IT'S OFFICIAL, GENERAL ELECTIONS IN PAKISTAN WILL BE HELD ON FEB 8

The election commission had earlier proposed that the polling be held on Feb 11, but the schedule was advanced after a meeting with President Arif Alvi

ELECTION DATE HELPS PAKISTAN FOR IMF LOAN

The announcement coincides with the beginning of negotiations between Pakistan and the IMF for the release of second tranche of a $3 billion loan to stabilise its economy. The main fight in the polls is between Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz) chief Nawaz Sharif and jailed Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf boss Imran Khan. PPP's Bilawal Bhutto also fancies his chances

SUPREME COURT FIAT SENT CEC TO PRESIDENT

- On the order of the Supreme Court, the Chief Election Commissioner along with the Attorney General and four members of the electoral body met President Alvi to discuss the general elections date

Drama as Moitra walks out of LS panel meet

Opposition members allege she was asked filthy questions; committee may call another meet to adopt its report

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THERE was high drama at a meeting of the Ethics Committee of the Lok Sabha on Thursday, as Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra and her Opposition colleagues stormed out of it alleging she was being posed 'filthy questions'.

However, panel chairman and BJP MP Vinod Sonkar refuted the claims and charged that Moitra boycotted the meeting to evade questioning and 'misbehaved' during the meeting.

"Opposition members also made allegations in anger and boycotted to evade questions. Objectionable words used against the panel and me," said Sonkar. It is learnt that the panel may soon call another meeting to adopt its report.

The committee is probing BJP MP Nishikant Dubey's allegations that Moitra accepted bribes for raising questions in Parliament on behalf of business tycoon Darshan Hiranandani. On October 26, the committee heard Dubey and SC lawyer Jai Anant Dehadrai on their allegations against Moitra. The MPs who walked out of the meeting along with Moitra were Congress's Uttam Kumar Reddy and V Vaithilingam, BSP's Danish Ali, CPM's P R Natarajan and JD(U)'s Giridhari Yadav.

Moitra then wrote to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, saying that she was subjected to the proverbial Vastraharan (disrobing) by the committee chairman. "I repeatedly protested on record that while the Chairman was welcome to ask me any question relevant to the inquiry — namely on the login and on those allegations of gifts for which evidence, or rather complete lack of it, existed he could not ask me detailed personal questions making insinuations about my dignity as a woman," she said.

In his pushback, Dubey said the Opposition targeted the panel chairman as he belongs to a Scheduled Caste.

SEEKS LS RULES ON SHARING LOGIN ACCESS

Moitra requested the LS Secretariat to disclose the rules governing the sharing of login and password of the portal to merely type out questions. "Why were these rules never given to MPs and if they were, why is every single MP sharing this ID and login with numerous people?" she asked

EXCISE POLICY

Kejriwal skips ED date, faults its summons

ANUP VERMA @New Delhi

DELHI Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Thursday failed to appear before the Enforcement Directorate and instead sent a letter to the agency stating that its summons is "vague, motivated and unsustainable in law". He demanded its recall.

Kejriwal flew off to Madhya Pradesh for election campaign. He said the summons was politically motivated and to prevent him from campaigning in poll-bound states.

The ED had summoned Kejriwal for questioning in the now-scrapped Delhi excise policy case and to record his statement under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act. His party colleagues Manish Sisodia and Sanjay Singh are in custody in the case. Sisodia was recently denied bail by the Supreme Court.

"The said summons is not clear as to the capacity in which I am being summoned i.e. as a witness or a suspect in the above-mentioned case... (It) does not specify whether I am being summoned as an individual or in my official capacity as Chief Minister of Delhi or as National Convenor of AAP and appears to be in the nature of a fishing and roving inquiry," his letter to the ED read.

An individual can at best ignore the ED's summons thrice. After that the agency can seek a non-bailable arrest warrant against him/her.

The ED says the excise policy allowed cartelisation and favoured certain dealers in exchange for bribes, a charge refuted by the AAP. The policy was ly scrapped and the Delhi Lt governor recommended a CBI probe, following which the ED registered a case under the PMLA.

Mohammed Shami celebrates after taking five wickets against Sri Lanka on Thursday. India beat SL by 302 runs | PTI

SHAMI-STAR AS INDIA QUICK MARCH INTO LAST FOUR

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Mumbai

WERE you also amazed? You wouldn't be alone. In a bowling performance that will find its way into highlight reels for the next few decades, India blew Sri Lanka by 302 runs to become the first team to advance to the semifinal of the World Cup. The hostile hot and humid conditions were no deterrent for either the batters or bowlers. This wasn't just any ordinary performance as much as a statement. A warning shot to the other rivals, including South Africa who they face next in Kolkata on Sunday. The win means the hosts can finish no lower than third place on the table after the completion of the group stage. After winning seven on the bounce, they are now 14 points, two ahead of the Proteas.

"Very happy knowing that we have officially qualified now," Rohit Sharma told the broadcaster after the game. "This was our goal. The way we approached these seven games, it was quite clinical." It's possible that the skipper has undersold the performances of his charges. The way they have won the seven games is reminiscent of the way the all-conquering Australian side won the event in 2007. In terms of margin, the closest is the four-wicket win they had over New Zealand at Dharamsala. But even that match was effectively over long before the final ball was bowled.

That sort of domination was in force at the Wankhede on Thursday. After they were asked to bat, all three of Virat Kohli (88), Shubman Gill (92) and Shreyas Iyer (82), who put on a six-hitting exhibition, came up with big contributions to lift the side to 357.

It always tends to do a bit under the lights at this ground so Rohit was delighted that they would be bowling second. This is a bowling line-up designed to extract whatever movement is on offer. That's what all three of Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj and Mohammed Shami did on a night when they were pretty close to flawless. While Shami was the hero again with another fifer (he is now the country's leading wicket-taker in World Cups), Bumrah started the show with a wicket of the first ball. Less than 20 overs later, the stamp of approval was visible. P15

ICC MEN'S CRICKET WORLD CUP INDIA 2023

I will continue as CM for five years, asserts Siddu

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Hosapete

A day after AICC general secretary and Karnataka incharge Randeep Singh Surjewala warning disciplinary action against ministers, MLAs and Congress functionaries going public on sharing power in the government, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah asserted that he will head the government for five years.

This statement assumes significance in the wake of ministers and MLAs belonging to the factions of Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar making frequent claims that their leader will lead the government soon.

Enthused by the firm backing of the party's high command, Siddaramaiah on Thursday said, "Presently, I am the CM and will continue as CM for five years."

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah arrives at MSPL Aerodrome near Koppal on Thursday

Siddaramaiah told reporters here that the question of change in leadership would not arise at all. The BJP is spreading rumours in this regard. People of the state have given a clear mandate to the Congress and its government will remain stable for five years, he said.

"If somebody speaks about change in leadership, it should not be taken seriously. All decisions will be taken by the party high command. There is no confusion in our party. All MLAs and leaders are happy with the party's decisions," he said.

Asked whether there will be three DCMs, he said the Congress is not a regional party and any decision in this regard will be taken by its high command.

Reacting to BJP MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi's prediction that the Congress government will soon collapse, he said with 135 assembly seats, the Congress will rule the state for five years. MORE: P4

K'taka on high alert, Zika in C'ballapur mosquito samples

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is now on high alert after detection of Zika virus in mosquito samples at Talakayalabetta village in Chikkaballapur district.

The health department has sent blood samples of 30 pregnant women and four others, suspected to be suffering from Zika fever, for tests.

With the state recording a spike in dengue cases in July, August and September, the health department collected random samples of mosquitoes from 100 places in various districts. Of the samples, six were from Chikkaballapur district. One of the six samples of the aedes aegypti mosquito tested positive for Zika virus, according to a report released by National Institute of Virology (NIV), Bengaluru unit, on October 18.

Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao told TNIE that tests were being done in view of the increasing number of dengue cases in the state. However, no person has been tested positive for the virus so far. The virus was found only in the mosquito. "The department is closely monitoring the situation. People with fever, skin rashes and other symptoms are being admitted in hospitals and their samples are being sent for tests," he said. CONTINUED ON: P3

Shortfall in rice output may hit Siddu's Anna Bhagya scheme

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THE overall rice production in the country is down by about nine percent. This is bad news for the Karnataka government, which is struggling to procure rice for its ambitious Anna Bhagya scheme. If market forces prevail, Karnataka would have to pay through its nose during this distress period.

Paddy growers, who usually sell their produce soon after its harvest, seem to have adopted a wait and watch policy now. The reason is rice output in Karnataka is expected to be down by almost 14%, according to experts and prices are expected to increase sharply. "In this uncertain situation, no rice miller comes forward to buy. The shortfall may lead to further increase in the prices of rice," FKCCI president Ramesh Lahoti said.

According to the Food Corporation of India, it procured only 103 lakh tonnes of rice till October 31 compared to 114 lakh tonnes procured during the same period last year, a shortfall of 11 lakh tonnes.

The state-wise figures indicated that of the large rice producing states, Punjab recorded the sharpest decline. The annual rice procurement dropped to 62.47 lakh tonnes, a decline of about 13%. The procurement in Tamil Nadu dipped by a whopping 41% to 3.06 lakh tonnes.

Former FCI chairman DV Prasad said there is a substantial dip in rice production owing to nature's vagaries. P4

Desert storms aiding carbon sequestration in Arabian Sea: Study

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

NATURE has a unique way of synchronisation and maintaining a sustainable equilibrium within its own ecosystem.

Deserts, which are considered barren and a challenge for human habitation, contribute significantly in making oceans productive and turning them into carbon sinks with their dust. The desert dust carries rich micronutrients and trace metals that help in carbon sequestration.

In a first of its kind study conducted on the basis of satellite imagery and isotopic work by the CSIR-National Institute of Oceanography (NIO), Dona Paula, Goa, in 2020, ocean scientists discovered that the dust particles collected over the Arabian Sea confirmed the influence of dust storms from Saudi Arabia and Iran.

"Dust particles carried by the wind over the deserts are an essential contributor of nutrients and trace metals to the microscopic surface-dwelling plants -- the phytoplankton -- in the global ocean, which in turn naturally help in controlling atmospheric CO2," Director of CSIR-NIO and ocean scientist Sunil Kumar Singh told TNIE.

He said that despite its significance, the overall impact of dust deposition on the Arabian Sea is not well understood and the biogeochemical modellers often rely upon qualitative parameterisation of dust source regions -- from Saudi Arabia, Iran to Thar desert -- based on satellite remote sensing products.

According to ocean researchers, the process of dust transport and its impact on the Arabian Sea occurs during summer. It was believed that the air parcels transported to the Arabian Sea during winter are mainly dominated by the smoke particles (that is, soot, sulphates and nitrates).

"Although surrounded by several land masses, it was not clear which dust source is most likely contributing to mineral aerosols over the Arabian Sea during winter. It was during one of our expeditions onboard Research Vessel Sindhu Sadhana, as part of the Indian effort towards the GEOTRACES Programme that the NIO researchers encountered two specific dust storm events over the Arabian Sea," Singh said.

GEOTRACES is an international programme, which aims to improve the understanding of biogeochemical cycles and large-scale distribution of trace elements and their isotopes in the marine environment. Scientists from 35 countries, including India, have been involved in the programme, which is designed to study all major global ocean basins.

"The first dust storm sampled over the Arabian Sea on January 27, 2020, was found to have originated from Saudi Arabia. In contrast, the second dust storm sampled after two weeks, on February 10, was found to have been from Iran and the Indo-Gangetic Plain," he said. CONTINUED ON: P10

LOGJAM IN HEBBAL FLYOVER WORK, COPS WON'T SHUT SERVICE ROAD

Piling work complete for 7 of 17 piers, work comes to a standstill; Police want contractor to create path

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

AUGMENTATION work at Hebbal flyover, carried out by Bangalore Development Authority, and already delayed by eight years, is set for further delays. The creation of three new lanes from the airport side towards the city, which had been going on briskly, has come to a halt as traffic police have refused permission to close a service road here for three months. Such a closure without an alternative arrangement will create traffic havoc near the flyover, already notorious for regular traffic bottlenecks, police say.

The Rs 225-crore plan to decongest the flyover includes three signal-free lanes from the airport to the city, as well as in the return direction, a bridge beyond the railway line and an underpass from Tumakuru to KR Puram. Work is to be completed in two phases. The first phase, at a cost of Rs 80 crore, has been contracted to PJB Engineering.

A source from the contractor said, "We are carrying out work for three lanes from the Railway line up to Baptist Hospital on service road, just in front of Hebbal police station. Piling work has been completed for 7 piers (pillars) out of 16. However, to complete the remaining piers, we need to close the service road for three months for excavation work. Traffic police have not given us permission to close the road and we cannot proceed. Next month, we will lay pier caps for the pillars that are laid. Nothing can be done beyond that."

A top traffic police officer said if the service road is closed, it would create chaos. "BDA needs to utilise the road next to the service road and create a way there for just 200 metres. The footpath can be demolished. A width of 3-3.5 metres is preferred to allow a bus or an ambulance to pass through. It could cost a maximum of Rs 10 lakh and can be done in a couple of days. When traffic flow is diverted to that road, we can permit closure of the service road," he explained. The service road is used by thousands of vehicles, including 24 High Court judges in the Nyaya Grama (judges' quarters), he said, adding that if the service road is closed, they have to take a detour of 2km to reach court.

Asked about this possibility, the contractor said it is an unsafe option. "If the service road is closed and traffic diverted next to the mosque, it would be unsafe for all vehicles to use that road when excavation is on," he explained. Another major issue is that BDA is yet to call for tenders for three lanes in the reverse direction. Even if these three lanes from the airport are ready, they cannot be used as no work has been done in the opposite direction.

FOOTPATH FIX

BBMP chief wants potholes filled up in Mahadevapura

ENS @ Bengaluru

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath directed Mahadevapura zone officials to fill potholes and clear encroached footpaths along tech corridors, on priority basis.

Girinath's direction comes after a coordination meeting with zonal officials on Thursday at Mahadevapura. He stressed that officials should give top priority to arterial and sub-arterial roads. Later, they could look at fixing ward roads. The commissioner also instructed Palike officials to impose a penalty against civic agencies, like Bangalore Electricity Supply Company and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board, if they dig roads without BBMP permission.

The commissioner also directed ward engineers and the assistant director of city planning department to conduct a joint inspection to see if unauthorized buildings are being constructed, and to take action in case of violations.

Zonal Commissioner Ibrahim Maigur and Joint Commissioner K Dakshayini were asked to look into solid waste management department work and clear footpath encroachments.

Later, Girinath held a meeting with the office-bearers of the Outer Ring Road Companies Association about traffic and water stagnation on roads during rain. Standing instructions were given to officials to ensure water does not stagnate during the rain and to install street lights immediately.

TNIE artist's exhibition holds up a sensitive mirror to society

SANJANA JAYASHANKAR

EIGHTY cartoons of illustrator Soumyadip Sinha, showcasing sensitive topics concerning phenomena in our society, nation and the world, will be exhibited this weekend at the Indian Cartoon Gallery. The exhibition will be inaugurated on November 4 by noted cartoonist BG Gujjarappa, for which Sinha will be present.

Sinha, Chief Illustrator at The New Indian Express, Chennai, ensures a neutral mindset about the topic by researching thoroughly and only then creates cartoons and caricatures. Sinha shares, "If the topic is about war, tragedy or violence, I cannot choose a neat and clean way." Such methods would not go with the emotions of the subject. "I like to use grungy, ink drawings. If it is geopolitical, environment based, I use a clean way." All the exhibition cartoons have been published on the editorial page of The New Indian Express, Chennai.

Soumyadip Sinha

Hailing from a small town in West Bengal, Sinha's family, and eventually him, were of the opinion that art could not land him a secure job. He loved painting and drawing since he was a child. But as per middle-class norms, he completed his higher studies in science. As much as he enjoyed microbiology, the hustle of working in an office and the madness of not being able to give time to his art, left him dissatisfied and sleepless for a very long time. During his late 20s, he took the risk of leaving behind his solid career backed by a Masters in microbiology, and finally welcomed learning various techniques in drawing, painting, cartooning and caricaturing from scratch. "Everything was going very well...sometimes it's not good when everything goes well," says the cartoonist, as he recalled his prior career in microbiology.

VG Narendra, Managing Trustee, Indian Institute of Cartoonists, developed a deep admiration for Sinha's unique style in cartooning. Having hosted hundreds of national and international cartoonists and their works, Sinha's cartoon exhibition marks the institute's 193rd.

The exhibition is open for all from November 4 to November 18, 11am onwards, at the Indian Cartoon Gallery, Trinity Circle (closed on Sundays).

Post leopard fracas, BBMP looks to penalise owners of neglected plots

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH cases of man-animal conflict, especially with leopards, being reported from the city outskirts, several unkept vacant plots in buffer zones have become a matter of concern. The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is exploring legal options to impose hefty penalties on such property owners along with their taxes, for not maintaining their sites.

The leopard that was shot dead in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

On Wednesday, Karnataka forest department officials had to call for JCBs to clear weeds and vegetation in Krishna Reddy Layout, Hongasandra grama, while trying to capture the elusive wild leopard. This incident raised questions among urban activists and environmentalists on what happened to government orders directing all property owners to maintain properties and keep them clean, failing which they would be penalised.

A senior forest department official said darting and capturing the leopard could have been easier if the area was well maintained. Such places are a safe haven for leopards, and have become a matter of concern. The official added that these places are also home to snakes, posing a threat to citizens, especially children playing around.

After Wednesday's incident, in which the leopard was shot dead, residents' welfare associations and politicians, including Anekal and Bommanahalli MLAs, are demanding that the government clean up the spaces at the earliest, and penalise the errant property owners.

In 2018, 2019, 2020 and again in 2022, BBMP had issued orders that all property owners should keep their properties clean and construct boundaries. But BBMP has been unable to implement it because of a lack of database of properties and owner details.

A BBMP official said that orders were issued under the KMC Act, but the new Bengaluru Act does not have this provision. Hence, BBMP issued orders under Solid Waste Management (SWM) rules, explained a BBMP official.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the teams are looking at legal provisions to bring in more stringent rules to take action. Soon, another order will be issued, backed with strict rules.

Girinath admitted there are multiple concerns over its implementation, in which case there would be problems in recovering penalty amounts, and these included cases in which land was under dispute or the owners were overseas.

BBMP Special Commissioner, SWM, Harsha Kumar, said the problem is not just on the city outskirts but even in developed layouts like Sadashivanagar, Shanthi Nagar, Cunningham Road and other such places. A meeting to address this was also held 15 days ago, but practical problems need to be addressed. Work on tightening the taxation process and property documentation will also start, he added.

BLUETOOTH SCANDAL

There was no misuse of OMR sheets: KEA

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) has clarified that there was no misuse of Optical Mark Recognition (OMR) sheets in the recently held examinations for First Division Assistant (FDA) posts in various boards and corporations. The statement comes after a picture of the OMR sheet, including the question paper and hall ticket, was widely circulated on social media.

It raised questions, such as who has taken the photo and if it is a student, how does he have access to his phone while the exams are in progress. The other error seen was that the hall ticket which is to be signed by the invigilator, was signed without the photo of the candidate, which goes against the rules. The post also raised questions on the legitimacy of the exams conducted in various districts.

Ramya S, Executive Director, KEA, on Thursday stated that there was no case of an irregularity related to OMR sheets. She clarified, "Those who attempted to use Bluetooth while writing the examination were identified during the early hours of the examination and handed over to the police." However, she refrained from accepting that there were incidents of misuse of OMR sheets.

Earlier, Ravishankar Malipatil, leader of the association for candidates appearing for competitive exams, claimed that over 300 candidates across the state have used Bluetooth devices to write the exams.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

03rd November: Cancerian alignments remind us of the Crab, this sensitive sign's ruling creature. The Crab is famous for its hard shell and sideways movements. Astrologers interpret this to mean that Cancerian people can be very shy, and also go about their lives in a 'sideways' manner, finding roundabout ways to deal with problems, instead of facing them head-on.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Most astrologers say that it is necessary to flow with the dominant planetary influences of the times. Yet, if you wish, you may buck the trend and deal with issues which are not now of greatest importance, such as travel plans, educational arrangements and legal questions.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Life hops from one set of lunar alignments to another. At this stage in the cycle you may be forced to get rid of anything of no lasting value, much as this may go against the grain. You have much to gain from making a fresh start in all close family relationships.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You're under the Moon's emotional sway today, and the pace is bound to pick up. So much appears to be affected by circumstances over which you have little or no control. There is nothing strange in this. After all, we are all dependent on partners, friends and associates to one degree or another.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There is a real danger at the moment of saying more than situations warrant. Yet other people will be surprised when it turns out that your bite is indeed every bit as bad as your bark. Although you sometimes can't find the best words, when you do, your famous sharp tongue will give them a real sting.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You would do best not to try to predict the outcome of any emotional wrangles or conflicts until the dust has settled. At present, it still looks as if anything may, and probably will, happen. You still have to unravel a financial question, though, so get on with it!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's head down and shoulders to the wheel for you, no matter where your dreams and fantasies have led you over the past week. There is much to be done before you can afford to rest on your laurels. In fact, I'd say there could be another eight to nine weeks before you achieve your goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Venus' evolving position is bound to boost your morale to new heights. However, for another few days you may still be unable to do more than wave your arms ineffectually, as partners fail to take account of what you are trying to say. They might not notice what you're doing either, and that could work in your favour.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
No one has truly been able to complain that you lack ambition, for you have succeeded in promoting your own interests very discreetly. Success, though, is relative, and can only be measured against how well, or badly, other people have done. Don't judge yourself too harshly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Like a number of other people, you have been experiencing many changes of mood. Yet your life has been smoother than most, largely due to the stabilising relationship between the Sun and your own sign. Once you have worked out a problem with authority, I suspect other difficulties will sort themselves out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Jupiter's powerful and brooding relationship with Saturn means one thing: partners and close associates are going to be disagreeably surprised if they imagine that they can get the better of you - especially if they're trying to get their hands on your money.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
All the indications point to this being a time of upheavals and enforced changes, particularly in relationship to partners. People who are involved with you emotionally, professionally, socially and financially, are all reassessing their priorities - and that covers just about everything.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You've been able to duck and dive in the past. Now you must be totally honest and one hundred percent objective about your attitudes to other people. Quite aside from your personal relationships, your career interests depend on how well you get on with partners and colleagues.

4 held for stealing ₹1 cr from bizman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UPPARPET police have arrested four persons, including a woman, on the charge of stealing Rs 1 crore from a 55-year-old arecanut dealer from Chitradurga.

The police have recovered Rs 90 lakh, two iPhones and gold ornaments purchased by the accused using the stolen cash.

HS Umesh, the arecanut dealer from Bheemasamdura in Chitradurga, filed a complaint with Upparpet police on October 21 stating that Rs 1 crore was stolen from his car near a hotel on Kalidasa Road at Gandhinagar in the city on October 7.

According to the police, Umesh's driver PB Swamy, 34, of Chitradurga, hatched a plot with his friend NM Anupama, 38, of Mahadevapura to steal the cash. Accordingly, Anupama sought the help of other accused N Pavan, 30, of Chitradurga, and SR Karthik, 27, of Hassan.

Umesh used to visit various markets in the state to buy arecanut. Swamy was aware of Umesh carrying cash for purchases to be made. On October 7, after visiting the wholesale markets at Sira and Tumakuru, Swamy and Umesh arrived in Bengaluru. Swamy parked the car near a hotel in Gandhinagar to have food. When they were having food, Anupama, Pavan and Karthik took away the cash from the car. After having food, Umesh went to meet his daughter who is studying in a college in the city. He learnt about the theft only after returning to Bheemasamudra the same night.

"Swamy made a duplicate car key and gave it to the other accused who used it and escaped with the cash," said a police officer.

Startup owner accused of cheating woman of ₹1.2 cr

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A 47-year-old woman entrepreneur has filed a police complaint stating that a man had cheated her of over Rs 1.2 crore under the Make-in-India scheme.

In her complaint, Neelima, the businesswoman, accused Ashwath Hegde, founder of a start-up manufacturing plastic substitutes, of cheating her after she paid him Rs 74.25 lakh for a franchise of his company.

She said Hegde made her invest money promising 47% annual returns along with 30% subsidy under the scheme. Hedge also promised her of providing raw material, machinery and skilled workers to manufacture biodegradable carry bags.

Neelima said she was introduced to Hegde by their common friend Dr Sujith in 2018. She and her husband Balaji visited Hegde's office on MG Road and held discussions with him on her investment. Hegde promised her that she would receive 47% annual returns on her investment and Rs 50,000 each month for two years as per the franchise agreement. He also assured her that he would pay her the money for two years.

Neelima said that she initially invested Rs 50 lakh. The project got delayed due to the Covid-19 pandemic. It only started functioning in May 2020. Hegde then informed her about starting another start-up in Hosur and offered her a partnership along with his sister. Accordingly, she invested Rs 24.25 lakh in the new venture.

She said the machinery provided to her was of poor quality and workers lacked the production skills. Hegde gave her only Rs 5 lakh as maintenance fee.

Enraged by this, she asked Hegde to cancel the business agreement they both had signed. Hegde initially requested a few months to return her money stating that he had launched another start-up in Tumakuru along with his wife and sister. "But later, he threatened me and my husband to accept whatever money he gives and not to meet him again," Neelima said.

He returned only Rs 20 lakh of the promised Rs 1.2 crore, she alleged.

The Ashoknagar police said they have asked Hegde to appear before them with the franchise agreement and other documents related to the investment Neelima made.

Vokkaligas won't accept Kantharaj panel report

Delegation to meet CM today, demand higher reservation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE two major communities -- Vokkaligas and Lingayats – had been squirming in discomfort ever since talk started about making the findings of the Kantharaj caste census report public. Their discomfort has now spilled out into the open, and Vokkaligas have categorically said that they have called for the Kantharaj Commission report to be rejected.

A group of Vokkaliga leaders who huddled together on Thursday to chalk out a strategy on the Kantharaj Commission caste census report, agreed that the government shouldn't accept the findings of the commission because they claimed it is "unscientific".

The meeting was called by the Vokkaligara Sangha in Bengaluru, and among those who participated were Nirmalananda Swami from Adichunchanagiri Mutt, Nanjavadootha Swami from Spatikapuri Mutt, Chandrashekaranatha Swami from Vishwa Vokkaligara Mahasamsthana, DyCM DK Shivakumar and former DyCM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, minister Cheluvarayaswamy, former ministers ST Somashekar, Araga Jnanendra, MLA Dr D Ranganath and others.

Vokkaliga leaders have decided that a delegation of community leaders, including legislators from all parties and the swamis, will submit a memorandum to CM Siddaramaiah on Friday, suggesting that reservation be restored from 12 to 16 per cent. Expressing concern, the Vokkaliga leaders said they would tell Siddaramaiah that the Kantharaj Commission caste census had left out many individuals, and that 40-50 per cent of the people had not been included. They claimed that houses in many villages, mofussil areas and urban centres had been left out of the caste census. The Vokkaliga leaders even suggested that they should take up a parallel Vokkaliga caste census, the details of which would also be explained so that it would prospectively challenge the findings of the Kantharaj census report.

Siddu govt preps to accept caste census, BJP meets state BC leaders in Delhi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP top brass that held a meeting with three senior Karnataka party leaders -- KS Eshwarappa, Kota Srinivasa Pujary and PC Mohan -- who hail from the backward class communities, in New Delhi on Thursday, discussed about the consequence of the Congress-ruled state government's plan to accept the caste census report.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who hails from the backward Kuruba community, had recently declared that his government will soon accept the State Backward Classes Commission's socio-economic caste survey report, which the previous governments did not dare to accept.

It is in this connection that BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh, along with BJP national president JP Nadda and Union Home Minister Amit Shah, held a meeting with the state's leaders for over an hour. They discussed repercussions of the release of the caste census report on the upcoming Lok Sabha polls, sources said.

The leaders had told their leadership that the forward communities in the state are likely to oppose the report findings.

In turn, the senior leaders suggested they be cautious, while issuing statements on the sensitive issue.

Appointment of LoP, state BJP not discussed?

As three senior leaders met the BJP top brass, speculation was also rife that the appointment of the Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly and new BJP state chief would be on agenda.

But BJP sources maintained that the high command held a meeting of about 40 backward class leaders from across the country to discuss various issues, taking their suggestions for the ensuing polls to five states and also the 2024 LS polls.

BJP national president JP Nadda, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, Union Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari, Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, and Sushil Kumar Modi, among others held discussions with leaders from the different states. The strategy to take the backward class communities into confidence and ensure they are with the party was discussed, according to sources.

Issues, including the Centre's contribution to the uplift of the backward classes, and to publicise it ahead of the LS polls were also discussed at length, they added.

As for Karnataka, the issue of the drought situation was discussed, as the BJP state unit will embark on a study trip on Friday.

"The leaders asked about the initiative taken by the Congress government in Karnataka to tackle the situation, but we informed that except for making the government bankrupt by introducing guarantees, it has not done anything. The issue of the appointment of the Leader of Opposition and new BJP state president has not been discussed," Eshwarappa told The New Indian Express.

Devpt works have halted, says BSY; CM denies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and BJP Central Parliamentary Board member BS Yediyurappa on Thursday tore into the Siddaramaiah government by saying it has failed on all fronts, by not providing relief to people in drought-hit taluks, while development works have come to a complete standstill. The CM hit back by stating that the allegations are far from the truth.

Addressing the media at the BJP office, the former CM said the Siddaramaiah government is struggling to fulfill assurances given to people and the Congress leaders are blaming the Centre to cover up their failures. "The CM does not have any control over the party or the government, which is like a vehicle with deflated tyres that cannot move forward," he said.

Yediyurappa said the I-T Department raids on contractors that resulted in recovery of nearly Rs 100 crore has exposed rampant corruption in the Congress, and Karnataka has become an ATM for the Grand Old Party and its central leaders, who are visiting the state to give collection targets to the state leaders. The Congress is ridden with factionalism and its leaders are fighting with each other, he said, adding that the CM is holding dinner meetings with ministers to contain Deputy CM DK Shivakumar.

Siddaramaiah is ignoring the interests of the people and using social media to speak lightly against the PM. If that is the case, how can anyone meet them, he asked, responding to the Congress' allegation that state leaders are not getting time to meet Central ministers.

The former CM said the Gruha Lakshmi scheme has not reached half of the women beneficiaries, while only Rs 50 lakh out of Rs 2 crore MLA grants were released, and funds are not released for SC/ST welfare projects. The BJP will launch an agitation to expose the government's failures, he said.

Yediyurappa admitted that the appointment of Leader of Opposition is delayed, but they will try to expedite the process. He rubbished allegations that BJP leaders are trying to poach Congress legislators.

BJP leader BS Yediyurappa addresses a press meet in Bengaluru on Thursday | EXPRESS

Don't want 'Z' Plus security: Yediyurappa

Former CM BS Yediyurappa said the Centre has offered him 'Z' Plus security, but he has informed the Union Home Minister that he does not want it, as it will restrict people from meeting him. "I am convincing the Home Minister that I do not need it," he said, adding that the current security is adequate for him.

Siddaramaiah hits back

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah termed the BJP leader's allegations as misleading. He said he is ready to go with Yediyurappa if he takes an all-party delegation to the Centre to demand drought relief. "The Centre, which was supposed to release drought relief as per NDRF rules, is delaying it unnecessarily. If you take an all-party delegation in this regard, I will come with you," the CM told the BJP leader. He said it is not true that the Gruha Lakshmi scheme has not reached half of the women of the state; in fact 1.08 crore women had successfully registered for it in October, and they will implement it successfully.

Competitive sycophancy, leadership quarrel a bane for Grand Old Party

K SHIVAKUMAR @Mysuru

THE Congress, which returned to power with a commanding mandate and new hope against the BJP, is now rocked by a competitive sycophancy among followers of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar.

Though the new government took off with a big bang, implementing four of five guarantees, and an assurance to deliver better governance, recent developments in the Congress project a lack of unity. Many senior leaders and legislators, instead of taking on the BJP and carrying anti-incumbency till the Lok Sabha election, are involved in mud-slinging.

Sycophancy among loyalists of the CM and DyCM has put Congress leaders to severe embarrassment at a time when the state government machinery is expected to take up drought relief work, solve the plight of farmers and address the issue of rising prices of essential commodities.

Camp politics has cast its shadow ever since the government took charge in June. Indiscreet statements declaring Siddaramaiah as chief minister for the full term by his camp, have evoked strong resistance from the followers of DK Shivakumar, raising questions on their power-sharing equation.

Senior ministers like KN Rajanna, HC Mahadevappa, Satish Jarkiholi, Zameer Ahmad and others claim that people want Siddaramaiah as chief minister for the full term. Other MLAs claim that Shivakumar will become chief minister after two-and-half years, and a new cabinet will be formed. This confusion gives scope for debate, with aspirants declaring they have a good chance to bag ministerial berths, as both the chief minister and deputy chief minister have maintained silence, adding to the speculation.

Although the Congress high command rushed Randeep Surjewala and K C Venugopal to hold talks and send a strong message on the leadership issue, Congress veterans, pleading anonymity, felt the issue should be pushed under the carpet by both leaders. They should direct their loyalists to focus on development, and it is the Congress high command's prerogative to take a call on the leadership issue, some ministers said.

Loyalists feel the party should have set up an inquiry against the BJP till the Lok Sabha election, and its failure to appoint an Opposition leader, instead of providing them fodder for debate.

A senior minister felt it was time to start focusing on Rahul Gandhi's leadership to take on the BJP. Siddaramaiah's claim that he is CLP leader and chief minister for the full term, shows that he wants to send a strong message to his cabinet, party functionaries and executive.

Political commentator Muzaffar Assadi said Congress leaders and cadre should first introspect on why they were given power, and try to deliver. The popular mandate was against BJP's misrule and for the five guarantees.

FALSE CHARGE?

No differences among Congress leaders: Rajanna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hassan

HINTING at dissident activities in the Congress after the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna on Thursday said that right now, there are no differences among leaders, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, within the party.

Speaking to reporters here, he claimed that BJP leaders have been purposely airing false allegations against the Congress, as they have no issues to talk about. He said Karnataka Congress in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala and AICC general secretary KC Venugopal have directed the MLAs not to show favour for or against the CM or DCM in future too.

Venugopal and Surjewala were in Bengaluru, where they met the CM and DCM to discussed and strategise for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Brushing aside alleged statements by BJP leaders that the Congress government would collapse after the 2024 polls, Rajanna, who is also the Hassan district in-charge minister, however said that the party high command will address political differences, even if any were to show after next year's election. The state government is serious about the upcoming BBMP elections and is thinking of dividing the Palike into three divisions, he added.

BJP plans orientation camp for corporators

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hubballi

IN order to get updated about the state of affairs in Karnataka as well as in the country, the BJP is holding a two-day orientation programme for its members of various municipal corporations. As many as 197 corporators of seven corporations will be taking part in the programme to be held here from Friday. While the programme will be inaugurated by state BJP president Nalinkumar Kateel, BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santosh will deliver the valedictory address.

Detailing the programme's agenda, MLA Arvind Bellad said it is a routine programme to be conducted for every wing of the party and elected representatives, with no specific intention behind it, including the upcoming General Election. Senior party leaders will guide corporators in six different sessions.

The attendees would be made aware of the economic condition and law and order situation in the state and how the Congress government was dragging its feet in effectively implementing its five guarantees that were promised during the Assembly polls. As the government has failed in the execution of these guarantees, a majority of people have not got benefits. These things would be explained to them, the MLA added.

Another major session would be on social and economic changes seen in the country during the last nine years of the Narendra Modi government and how welfare programmes of the NDA dispensation have trickled down and benefited the poor. This apart, the attendees would be made aware of the history of the BJP and its electoral progress over the years, Bellad said.

Stating that another intention of holding the orientation programme was to foster close coordination among party members, who would be in the camp for two days. He said they are also being trained in the effective use of new-age modes of communication, such as social media, apart from learning to respond to the problems of the public, and have better communication with people, Bellad added.

'Drop in rice output a big challenge'

FOOD security experts said the reduction in rice output will be a big challenge to the union and state governments. Some wondered that it may even affect the 5kg-rice per person offered by the union government to the states under the food security programme.

The experts said Chatisgarh, one of the states with surplus rice production, could have issues with regard to supply of rice to Karnataka. They said Chatisgarh offered Rs 3,600 per quintal of paddy, which is about Rs 1,400 over and above the union government's procurement price. The final cost of rice could, by default, be about Rs 50 per kg.

"The other major rice producing state is Telangana. But because of the assembly elections in that state, Karnataka may not be able to get rice till December 3. It is only post December 3, depending on the government formation, Karnataka may get rice from Telangana," the experts said.

Persons in high posts should show some constraints: CJ

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Justice of Karnataka High Court Prasanna B Varale on Thursday orally observed that persons occupying high posts should show some constraints. Without naming any person, the chief justice made this observation a day after Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in his Kannada Rajyotsava speech stated that despite several efforts made by the government in making Kannada the medium of instruction in the schools, the courts were not cooperating with the government's efforts.

The division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit was hearing a public interest litigation filed by parents of eight students who had challenged the mandatory teaching of Kannada in CBSE and ICSE

Board schools.

During the hearing, the Chief Justice, citing his own example, observed that those who take education in the regional language should not be treated as incompetent, and that they can be very successful, too. "At the same time, persons who are occupying high posts should show some constraints," the Chief Justice orally observed.

Meanwhile, the counsel of the petitioners submitted the details of the wards of the petitioners in a sealed envelope to the court in response to the order passed on the last date of the hearing held in September.

The counsel submitted that the parents were against disclosing the names of their children and the school in the petition as there were some instances where children had faced persecution in their schools.

Then the court observed that it was unjustified apprehension as they were not the first parents to challenge the issue before the court. If the children are so delicate, how will they face life in future? The parents are making their children timid. There are so many challenges in life... Life may test everything, your patience, skill, and experience, the court observed.

The petitioners have challenged the Rule 3 of the Kannada Language Learning Act which mandates teaching Kannada as a compulsory language to all students of Classes 1 to 10 in all schools of the state.

The petitioners stated that the combined effect of the Kannada Language Learning Act, 2015, rules framed under the Act in 2017 and Karnataka Educational Institutions (Issue of No Objection Certificate and Control) Rules, 2022 (NOC Rules), is that schools in Karnataka -- including those affiliated to CBSE and ICSE Boards -- will now have to teach Kannada either as a first, second or third language, and this will adversely affect students and children.

The petitioners stated that they are not opposed to Kannada being taught as a language. In each state, there is a large section of citizens whose mother tongue is different from the regional languages. These citizens often work in private and government establishments and are often transferred from one state to another, and generally enrol their children in CBSE/ICSE-affiliated schools.

Guarantees not reaching all: Bhaskar

BELAGAVI: BJP spokesperson Bhaskar Rao on Thursday said CM Siddaramaiah has become nervous, owing to the issues within the ruling Congress, besides instability in the government. The latter's promises have failed due to which, it is diverting people's attention by raising irrelevant issues like tiger claw pendant and renaming of the state, he added. Rao said he is doing a reality check of the guarantee schemes and the government's other promises by touring all the districts. "The free bus services for women is the only scheme beneficial to them, but unfortunately, the number of buses has been reduced in the name of repair or breakdown. Otherwise, no other schemes have been reaching all the eligible beneficiaries. There is partiality in providing these guarantees, as some are kept away from their benefits," he alleged.

The BJP on Thursday released its third list of candidates with 35 names for the forthcoming elections in Telangana, following the party's Central Election Committee meeting headed by BJP national president JP Nadda and Prime Minister Narendra Modi on November 1

75% of defence budget for local firms: Rajnath

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE central government has reserved 75 per cent of the defence capital acquisition budget, which amounts to approximately Rs one lakh crore for purchases from local companies to promote the growth of medium- and small-scale industries (MSMEs), said Defence Minister Rajnath Singh.

He added that small industries are the backbone of India's economy and contribute immensely to the development of the nation. "Small industries are the motor of the Indian economy. The faster the motor runs, the quicker the vehicle of the economy moves," Singh said during the inauguration of the three-day India Manufacturing Show in Bengaluru on Thursday.

The show is being jointly organised by Laghu Udhyog Bharti and IMS Foundation, supported by the Department of Defence Production, Ministry of Defence. The central theme of the event is 'Make in India, Make for the World'.

He explained the government has imposed restrictions on the import of 509 defence products which will now be manufactured in India. "Four positive indigenisation lists for Defence Public Sector Undertakings (DPSUs) were also promulgated, under which 4,666 items were identified that will be manufactured within the country to ensure adequate demand assurance for our domestic industries and to make them Aatmanirbhar," the minister said.

Singh also appreciated the fact that small industries of the country are progressing well through Laghu Udyog Bharti. He said India will become self-reliant and a global manufacturing hub in the times to come. "Many MSMEs are doing well in exports and are becoming a part of the global supply chain of the world's biggest companies. Heavy industries play a big role in the nation's development, but the country cannot fully progress by ignoring small industries," he explained.

While speaking about Bengaluru, Singh said if Delhi is India's political capital, then Bengaluru is the technology capital of the country. He added that South India also has rich cultural heritage saying that due to its geographical conditions invaders didn't have much access to the region compared to North India. "We can see Indian culture more vibrant in Southern India. To safeguard the cultural heritage of the nation, there will be no exaggeration if I call South India the 'cultural fortress' of India. South India is the safe house of Indian culture," the minister told young entrepreneurs and attendees.

Govt alleges Arif Mohammed Khan holding back Bills passed by the state assembly without giving assent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/T'Puram

OPENING a new front in its fight with the Raj Bhavan, the Kerala government on Thursday moved the Supreme Court against Governor Arif Mohammed Khan, alleging he was holding back Bills passed by the state assembly without giving assent, thereby defeating the right of the people and violating Article 14 of the Constitution.

In its plea, the state government submitted that the governor has not yet given his assent to eight Bills sent to him after being passed by the assembly. Of these, three Bills have been pending with the Raj Bhavan for more than two years and three others in excess of a full year. The petition has been filed by Chief Secretary V Venu for the state government. CPM leader T P Ramakrishnan, MLA, also moved the apex court against the governor.

Each of the Bills pending with the governor is in the interest for the people of Kerala, proposing to improve the state of public health infrastructure to tackle communicable diseases by applying the lessons learnt during the COVID pandemic, and by making state university laws consistent with central laws to create uniform national standards as required by the apex court, it said.

"The failure of the governor to act, thus, affects the rights which would accrue to the people of the state... A governor who acts in gross disregard and violation of the provisions of the Constitution cannot be said to be functioning in discharge of his duties as a governor, since, no governor is entitled to violate the provisions of the Constitution, whether through his action or inaction," the government said in its plea.

"The conduct of the governor, as would presently be demonstrated, threatens to defeat and subvert the very fundamentals and basic foundations of our Constitution, including the rule of law and democratic good governance, apart from defeating the rights of the people of the state to the welfare measures sought to be implemented through the Bills," the plea stated.

Meanwhile, Raj Bhavan sources said the governor has obtained legal opinion after the Supreme Court's observation in the Telangana issue.

APCID books fresh case against Naidu in free sand policy irregularities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

THE Andhra Pradesh Crime Investigation Department (APCID) has filed a fresh case against TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu in connection with the alleged irregularities in the Free Sand Policy introduced by the previous government in 2016. This comes just two days after the former chief minister was booked in connection with the alleged liquor scam. It may be noted that this the sixth case that the probe agency has filed against the 73-year-old.

In the FIR, while the then mines and geology minister Peethala Sujatha has been mentioned as the key accused, Naidu has been listed as accused number 2, former MLA Chintamaneni Prabhakar as A3 and Devineni Umamaheshwara Rao as A4, along with 'others', for allegedly taking decisions which conferred pecuniary gains to others and caused loss to the government exchequer.

The CID registered the case on November 1 under IPC Sections 120 (B), 409 read with 34 of IPC, and Section 13 (1)(d) read with 13(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act after receiving a complaint from VG Venkata Reddy, vice-chairman and managing director of Andhra Pradesh Mineral Development Corporation, and director of State Mines and Geology.

According to the complainant, several discrepancies were found in the policy decisions taken by the previous TDP government in leasing of mines and sand reaches, which resulted in the State government losing revenue. The loss has been estimated to be around thousands of crores of rupees in comparison to revenue generated by the State between 2019 and 2021, the complaint read.

"There was no procedural adherence, no compliance with the business rules in policy changing decisions and legal justification. The 'Free Sand Policy' was exploited and has emerged as a tool for filling up the coffers of a few private individuals..." the complainant alleged.

'Firing a staffer will escalate depression'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OBSERVING that distress and depression are the byproducts of modern life, the Karnataka High Court said a decision to lay-off an employee with or without just cause may well escalate the level of depression.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit made these observations while dismissing the appeal filed by the Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited (KPTCL) questioning the order passed by a single judge to reinstate S Kiran, a Station Attendant-II, from Hemavathinagar in Hassan, who was dismissed from service for unauthorised absence due to stress and depression.

"The appellant being an entity under Article 12 of the Constitution, has to conduct itself as a model employer; that is how a welfare state should be; it has to treat its employees with fairness and empathy; by that, it wins the heart of workforce and that eventually results in increased productivity. Otherwise, where would we draw the line between a welfare state and a colonial regime..?" it observed.

The single judge dismissed the petition filed by the KPTCL on November 10, 2022, questioning the order passed by the labour court to reinstate Kiran on March 21, 2019. ww

In BBMP limits, approval has been given for the construction of 600 new toilets at a cost of Rs 9 crore, each unit costing Rs 1.50 lakh.

These statements were made before a division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit by M N Ajay Nagabhushan, secretary of the Urban Development Department, in an affidavit in response to the public interest litigation filed by Letzkit Foundation in 2020 through which the court is monitoring the issue of public toilets in the state.

Ajay Nagabhushan, who was present, stated in the affidavit that the projected urban population of the state for 2026 is 2.01 crore and the floating population will be five per cent, which is about 10 lakh.

Based on this floating population, the state has to provide one closet/seat for 250 persons. The court said it shows a positive approach to the issue by the state government. Therefore, the order passed to the extent of imposing a cost on the state is recalled, said the court, while directing the secretary of the KSLSA and Secretaries of the District Legal Service Authorities to monitor the steps.

AADHAAR DATA BUST RAISES FRESH SAFETY AND PRIVACY CONCERNS

A US-based cyber security firm, Resecurity, has revealed that as many as 815 million Indians' personal data including Aadhaar card and passport details have been compromised and are on sale on the dark web. The hackers, who have also broken into the Indian Council of Medical Research database, are offering Aadhaar and passport data as a package to buyers for $80,000, Resecurity claimed. The custodian of data for millions of Aadhaar card users, the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI), has routinely denied any breach of privacy. But this may not stand scrutiny as the Comptroller and Auditor General's investigation in April 2022 exposed that UIDAI had not sufficiently safeguarded their data vaults; and that the leaks were largely emanating from client vendors over whom very little oversight had been exercised.

Aadhaar, one of the world's single largest caches of data pertaining to citizenship details, leaks like a sieve. In January 2018, despite all of UIDAI's claims that "Aadhaar data is fully safe and secure", a newspaper team purchased a service over WhatsApp for as little as ₹500 to get access to a billion Aadhaar numbers. Many of these leaks were traced back to the large army of village-level operatives involved in sourcing and storing grassroots data. Nothing was learnt from the exposé. Instead of the ostrich-like stance the government adopts in the face of such disclosures, the first step to plugging the leaks is to acknowledge it is happening on a massive scale.

An individual's privacy is hugely compromised with the government holding terabytes of citizens' data in Aadhaar-type caches. But the violation of individual rights takes a major step up if the government itself becomes part of the snooping. The Pegasus affair—the suspected planting of eavesdropping malware purchased by the state from an Israeli company—still remains sub-judice and unresolved. As the world goes increasingly digital, breaking into bank accounts, pilfering corporate information and skimming off people's identities have ballooned into a monster. Protection for the individual under the Information Technology Act of 2000 is thin. The government needs to step up its intervention against cybercrime and ensure individual liberty is not compromised by the snooping activity of its various arms.

RENAMING SPACES ONLY SERVES POLITICAL AGENDA

NAMING and renaming of roads, cities, projects, schemes and infrastructure is an old tactic adopted by political parties to stamp their ownership. A fresh demand to rename Bengaluru's Metro network, quite appropriately called Namma Metro (Our Metro), after the 12th-century philosopher-saint Basaveshwara is attracting strong views for and against. Infrastructure minister and Lingayat leader M B Patil, who is leading this demand, says it is appropriate that Basaveshwara is given his due, especially as Bengaluru airport is named after another great, Kempegowda. Citizens have said on social media that they have a strong emotional connect with the Metro and the government should instead focus on speeding up projects. Patil also said there is nothing wrong in naming Karnataka as 'Basava Nadu', which is bound to stir up more debate over Lingayat dominance.

In the middle, Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar has mooted his own changes—that Ramanagara district's Kanakapura taluk be brought under Bengaluru Urban district, and Ramanagara district be renamed Bengaluru South. This is bound to create confusion, considering there is already a parliamentary constituency by the same name. It has also sparked a backlash from politicians and residents. Shivakumar claims that the hinterland—Kanakapura, Ramanagara and Magadi—was once part of the original Bangalore district and will now benefit from Brand Bangalore and attract investments, but former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy has his own take on it. He has accused Shivakumar of attempting to regularise "illegal deals" by redrawing the borders. As CM in 2007, Kumaraswamy had carved out Ramanagara district, a Vokkaliga stronghold, from Bengaluru Rural. It should be kept in mind that Kanakapura is Shivakumar's stomping ground, while Ramanagara is Kumaraswamy's pocket borough, though the Congress has now retaken the district.

Political exigencies appear to be at work here. Over the years, there has been a slow and steady assertion of indigenous culture and flavour, with streets and localities being named after folk icons and heroes. British names are slowly falling off the map. While this pushback is expected, the government should look at simple, practical names for the Metro and its stations. Rebranding is more common in BJP-ruled states such as Uttar Pradesh and Goa, where the bigger agenda of Bharatisation is being implemented. It only helps political parties appropriate a legacy, impose an ideology or even wipe out slices of history.

QUICK TAKE

WORLD CUP NOT PITCH-PERFECT

If cricket is a religion, the 22-yard pitch at the centre of the field is the temple. And at this ICC World Cup, India seems to have done the temple a disservice. If teams can rack up 600-700 runs in every other hundred-over match, it means the pitches are dreadfully flat. South Africa and Sri Lanka totted up an eye-watering 754 runs between them in Delhi. It is one thing for India to fend off accusations of doctoring pitches to favour spin for bilateral home series, quite another to offer flat pitches for the biggest global tournament of the sport. We need a balance between green-tops and brown-tops.

The UN and other multilateral agencies have been ineffective in resolving conflicts for decades. As wars engulf three continents, we have to rethink global governance

THE NEED TO REIMAGINE GLOBAL ORDER

MANISH TEWARI

Member of parliament, lawyer, and former I&B minister

SOUMYADIP SINHA

AT a regional security conference in the Middle East an intervention by a distinguished participant provoked a think. He asked about the implications of active conflicts across three continents on global peace, security and stability.

The reference was to the Russian aggression on Ukraine in Europe that is now in its twentieth month, Israel's war on Hamas and by extension on the ill-fated people in the Gaza strip provoked by Hamas's barbaric attack on innocent Israeli civilians on October 7, and the continuing transgressions by China across the Line of Actual Control with India since April 2020 and the simmering tensions in the South China sea. The latest provocation being the Chinese navy ramming Philippine's civil and naval assets to prevent them from reaching the Second Thomas Shoal.

Added to these are the drug cartel wars in Latin America, Islamist insurgency in both eastern and western Africa, and violent coups in a number of west African nations.

On January 26 this year, the Deputy Secretary General of the United Nations, Amina J Mohammad, had warned the 9250th meeting of the UN Security Council: "The United Nations' raison d'être is now under grave threat."

This comes against the backdrop of the highest number of violent conflicts since the end of the Second World War, leading to a pervasive sense of insecurity worldwide. Every continent in the world is witnessing a conflict of such magnitude that threatens the stability of the entire region.

After witnessing the unprecedented scale of devastation caused by the Second World War, the pyrrhic victors decided to modulate the prevailing rigidity in the Westphalian global order.

The Westphalian system emphasised sovereignty and was premised upon raison d'état. In simple English, it means the balance of power rests on the rational calculation of what was in the best interests of the country and its ruler.

Elevated to the exalted heights of the holy grail of strategic thought by Cardinal de Richelieu, first minister of France during 1624-42, it unfortunately only fragmented the global order as it only served to fuel the vested interests of nation states notwithstanding the Peace of Westphalia in 1648 and the Concert of Europe in Vienna in 1814-15 that brought hundred years of peace to Europe.

Raison d'état was primarily responsible for destroying the League of Nations despite the devastating First World War in 1914-18 that had left forty million people dead. After the Second World War, institutions such as the UN, World Bank and the International Monetary Fund were created to try and mitigate tribalism in the global order.

Despite the Cold War, there was significant progress compared to the previous state of affairs. The end of the Cold War witnessed the zenith of multilateralism. Institutions such as the World Trade Organization came into existence seeking to end trade protectionism and the UN became much more proactive in dealing with global conflicts. An example is the UN Security Council resolution 678 adopted on November 29, 1990, which legitimised the use of force against Iraq for invading Kuwait.

Unfortunately, there has been a gradual degradation of multilateral institutions since then with the UN system absolutely failing to measure up to the occasion on a number of instances. The most glaring being the ineffectual inanities mouthed by the World Health Organization in the initial months of the Covid pandemic and the inability of the UN Security Council to even discuss the pandemic in March 2020, when half the world was already in some form of lockdown or the other, since China held the rotating presidency for that particular month.

The WTO has been in a deadlock since the Marrakesh Agreement and the ongoing trade war between China and US has resulted in the creation of protectionist sentiments in the international trade regime.

Another reason for the downfall of multilateralism is the rise of right-wing populism and the challenge it has presented—both ideological and political—to globalisation, liberalisation and the mores of liberalism.

The downfall of multilateral institutions has revived the Westphalian system of global order. Rather than relying on the WTO for facilitating trade, countries are now trading within their blocs, this has resulted in the rise of regional trade agreements and the so-called mini-laterals.

In the realm of geopolitics, the rise in tensions between the US and China has once again reignited the East-versus-West rivalry. The three-way naval exercise between Russia, North Korea and China in the Indo-Pacific, and the recent visits of President Putin to China and North Korean leader Kim Jong-Un to Russia clearly demonstrate the innate desire of these belligerents to challenge the US and its allies in the Indo-Pacific.

On another front, the increased bonhomie of China and Russia with Iran, Syria and Iraq has shown the desire to challenge the US-led Saudi-Israel bloc in the Middle East. The recent Israel-Hamas war has reopened every faultline in the greater Middle East, going all the way back to the Sykes-Picot agreement of 1916 and the Balfour declaration of 1917. It significantly degraded the possibility of an Israel-Saudi Arabia entente or a larger rapprochement in the Middle East in the near future.

Unfortunately, this divide in the international order comes amid the fact that the world is facing unprecedented challenges. Democratic countries are decreasing day by day and the democratic gains made in the last three decades have been greatly reduced. Now climate change threatens the fundamental resources crucial for the survival, security and prosperity of nations in the global order. Economic inequality between the Global North and the Global South has widened, and global public debt has reached an unprecedented $238 trillion, which will have severe ramifications for our future.

In order to tackle these challenges, it is essential to reimagine the structures of the institutions of global governance; the aim is to prevent them from becoming more inefficacious and redundant in addressing the prevailing state of play. In more than one sense, we are back to the period between the two cataclysmic World Wars of the 20th century.

AI-POWERED COURTS CAN REWRITE FUTURE OF JUDICIARY

HASAN MOHAMMED JINNAH

Tamil Nadu state public prosecutor

AS the Indian judiciary deals with mounting caseloads and calls for greater transparency, artificial intelligence can emerge as a valued ally. The Supreme Court Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud's term has been marked by a wave of reforms on the technological front. On October 6, the Supreme Court urged high courts to guarantee that no member of the bar is denied access to video conferencing or hybrid-facility hearings. Earlier, during hearings for the Article 370 case, the CJI had urged counsels to submit their arguments and supporting materials online.

During the Covid lockdown, the Indian judiciary embraced virtual hearings, online dispute resolutions and remote collaboration. The live streaming of court proceedings contributed to transparency and bolstered public trust. With the help of technology, the Madras High Court recorded impressive case clearance rates (CCR) of 93.07 percent and 98.12 percent in 2020 and 2021, as against the 76.75 percent and 83.70 percent recorded by all other high courts in those years. Tamil Nadu's trial courts posted CCRs of 85.02 percent and 95.18 percent in 2020 and 2021, as against 62.60 percent and 81.12 percent by all other district courts in the country.

Tech adoption in the Indian judiciary can improve case management, predictive analytics and legal research. The modernisation drive started with the E-court project under the National e-Governance Plan, which aimed to computerise court processes and establish a networked infrastructure. The National Judicial Data Grid today provides real-time information on pending and disposed cases.

AI has the potential to enhance the efficiency of the system. It can automate case prioritisation, categorisation, scheduling and docket management, which would help analyse large volumes of documents, translate proceedings, make recommendations based on records, predict outcomes and provide data-driven recommendations.

AI is already used in the Indian judiciary. The Supreme Court has launched an AI-powered portal, SUPACE (Supreme Court Portal for Assistance in Court's Efficiency) to assist judges in case management and decision-making. SUVAS (Supreme Court Vidhik Anuvaad Software), a machine-assisted translation tool trained by AI, has been developed with support from the IT ministry. This tool can translate English-language documents, orders and judgements into ten vernacular languages.

At the Madras High Court, Justice M Sundar has been appointed head of the computer committee responsible for overseeing e-initiatives. The high court has translated the largest number of Supreme Court judgements from English to Tamil, totaling 6,234 records to date; the achievement surpasses that of all other high courts. The Madras High Court has also implemented an officers' management system, a recruitment software, a display board service, e-filing, and an Advocate Information & Management Systems (AIMS). Chief Justice S V Gangapurwala showed his interest in such technology interventions at an event at the court's Madurai bench, where he said, "The use of paperless courts is intended to be a significant step forward in increasing judicial efficiency and openness."

ANI

Artificial Intelligence can be helpful as courts get digitally smarter. However, it is important to consider potential prejudice flowing from biased metadata or false information

Various countries are using AI interventions in their judiciaries. The US has employed AI-powered tools such as COMPAS (Correctional Offender Management Profiling for Alternative Solutions) for data collection, risk assessment and decision support. The US system has also developed chatbots that provide information to the public. The UK justice ministry launched a Digital Case System in 2020, harnessing AI in the judiciary. China's use of AI in Xiao Zhi 3.0, its smart court system, claims to have reduced a judge's average workload by over a third.

But to what extent can AI be used in our justice delivery system? Can it replace humans in judicial decision-making? There are concerns over this. Stakeholders must proceed with caution, as the use of AI in the judiciary is a double-edged sword. For instance, the US judges widely use algorithms to make decisions on granting bail and sentencing. An investigation claimed that the system generated "false positives" for black people and "false negatives" for whites.

Although AI can be helpful in courtrooms, it is important to consider potential biases in decision-making due to biased metadata or false information. The justice system needs technology to manage itself. But it is important to remember that there are people behind the numbers. The Vidhi Centre for Legal Policy, an independent think-tank, published a research paper highlighting that the integration of AI in the justice system requires a comprehensive legal, regulatory and ethical framework to establish trust in these technologies. Careful implementation with transparency, fairness and accountability is crucial. It is also important to train judges, advocates and other public servants to prevent AI-related harms. Tawfik Jelassi, assistant director general for communications at UNESCO, emphasises the need for new laws and immediate action on this.

Justice delayed is justice denied. For instance, the Naz Foundation case related to Section 377 took 624 days to receive a judgement. Research suggests that there is a correlation between judicial pendency and economic growth. According to a 2018 report by the Institute for Economics and Peace, the inability of the Indian state to deliver timely justice and ensure the rule of law resulted in preventable violence which cost India as much as 9 percent of our annual GDP.

PRS Legislative Research says India is grappling with formidable challenges in pendency and judicial vacancies, with over 4.32 crore pending cases and a notable shortage of judges.

High courts and subordinate courts face a significant deficit, with 30 percent and 22 percent fewer judges than their sanctioned strengths.

Given this, AI is a promising factor in fast-tracking justice delivery. Its integration into the legal system is a significant step in the right direction.

'Cong focus on states, INDIA on back burner'

Bihar CM Nitish Kumar blames grand old party for lack of progress in opposition bloc's preparations for LS polls

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

HINTING that all is not well in the opposition bloc 'INDIA', Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Thursday alleged there was no progress on issues like seat-sharing as Congress was busy with the upcoming assembly elections to the five states.

Addressing a rally, 'BJP Hatao Desh Bachao,' organised by CPI in Patna, Nitish blamed the Congress for the lack of progress in the Opposition's preparations for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

He said the Congress was given the role of leading the Opposition alliance against the BJP ahead of the general polls. However, the grand old party appears to have been preoccupied with assembly elections in the five states, he told the gathering.

In a guarded language, the JD(U) leader, who had played a key role in bringing non-BJP parties together to give a befitting answer to BJP in the upcoming polls, said, "We have been talking to them, pushing them forward in 'INDIA' alliance. But, of late, there has not been much progress on that front."

He, however, hastened to add that the constituents of Opposition 'INDIA' bloc would meet again to decide the future course of action after the assembly elections in five states. "The constituents of 'INDIA' would sit again after the assembly elections to decide its future course of action," he added.

He said that he had taken the initiative to bring all opposition parties on a single platform to fight against BJP in the general elections. He also accused the Narendra Modi government of trying to change the history of the country.

In February, Nitish had advised Congress not to rest on its laurels after the 'Bharat Jodo Yatra' and use the momentum to forge an alliance of the opposition parties at the national convention of CPI (ML).

Senior Congress leader Salman Khurshid was also present on the occasion.

Bihar CM Nitish Kumar with CPI general secretary D Raja at 'BJP Hatao Desh Bachao' rally in Patna on Thursday | PTI

'State polls important, fighting them seriously'

Responding to Nitish Kumar's remarks, Congress stressed the importance of state elections and asserted it was fighting them "seriously". The party asserted that the INDIA bloc had been formed for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections at the national level and was not state-specific. "States make up the country, so the five state elections are important," Bihar Congress chief Akhilesh Prasad Singh told media at the AICC headquarters in Delhi. "Kumar said the Congress is busy with state elections and then it will call a meeting. Before too, at the Congress office in Patna, Lalu Prasad had come and said that INDIA bloc's first rally will be in Patna's Gandhi Maidan," he said.

Furnish data of all electoral bonds in 2 weeks: SC to EC

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday reserved the pleas challenging the validity of Central government's electoral bond scheme, directing the Election Commission to provide within two weeks all data on donations that political parties received through the scheme till September 30 this year.

A five-judge constitution bench led by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud said the electoral bonds scheme for funding political parties should not become a tool for "legitimisation of quid pro quo" between power centres and people who are benefactors of that power, stressing the need for reducing the cash component in the electoral process.

After hearing for three days the pleas against the Centre's scheme introduced in 2017, the bench also comprising Justices Sanjiv Khanna, B R Gavai, J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra reserved its verdict on a batch of pleas filed by Congress leader Jaya Thakur, the Communist Party of India (Marxist) and NGO Association for Democratic Reforms (ADR), among others.

During the hearing, the bench also said that at this stage, it will not ask the State Bank of India to reveal the identity of the donors, but it would like to know about the quantum of bonds subscribed.

A major contention of the petitioners was that the identity of the donors could never be known to the public.

On Wednesday, the bench had said the scheme "provides (only) selective anonymity... confidentiality" as its purchase records are available with the SBI and can be accessed by investigative agencies.

The bench on Thursday asked the Election Commission to provide the updated data on the scheme in a "sealed cover", in line with a 2019 SC order.

The apex court noted that the 2019 order was not restrictive to the date on which it was pronounced, and if there was any ambiguity, it was necessary for the poll panel to seek a clarification from the court.

Defending the Centre, Solicitor General of India (SG) Tushar Mehta had told the court that donations made through electoral bonds are kept anonymous to protect the privacy and political affiliation of the citizens who make such donations to political parties.

You ought to have the data. You will have the total quantum of electoral bonds and what is the bifurcation between different political parties... File the data as of March 31, 2023 and submit it to us. You can even give us the data till September 30, 2023

Supreme Court bench

"Each and every word was very consciously used and what the petitioners have called 'anonymity or opaqueness' was neither anonymous nor opaque but was 'confidentiality by design'," he had argued.

The bench asked the Election Commission's counsel about the quantum of electoral bonds subscribed, to which he said he had some data in compliance with the earlier court order, and he can place it. As the court asked whether it is updated or not, the counsel said the details are not updated after 2019.

"You have to continue to collect the data," the bench said, adding that the Election Commission never came back to the court for clarification if there was any doubt regarding the earlier directive.

"You should have got the data when you were coming to the court... That day, we had emphasized and all of us had expressed the view and we expected you to come back with the data," the bench told the Election Commission's counsel.

The counsel said he can provide the data and the Election Commission can seek details from all political parties. He further informed the court the data was to be given six months after a financial year got over.

"You ought to have the data. You will have the total quantum of electoral bonds and what is the bifurcation between different political parties," it told the Election Commision's counsel, who said the poll panel will have to collate that. "File the data as of March 31, 2023 and submit it to us. You can give us the data till September 30, 2023," the bench said.

Days after talks with China on border row, Bhutan King begins India visit

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

KING of Bhutan Jigme Khesar Namgyel Wangchuck will make an official visit to India from November 3-10. This will be his sixth visit to India after his coronation. It comes 10 days after Bhutan and China held talks seeking to resolve the border issue and establish diplomatic ties.

The Bhutanese King had earlier visited India in April this year on the invitation of President Draupadi Murmu.

Wangchuck will meet PM Narendra Modi, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and senior Indian officials during the visit. He will also travel to Maharashtra and Assam. The northeast state shares its border with Bhutan.

"The visit would be an opportunity for India and Bhutan to review the gamut of bilateral cooperation and to advance the exemplary bilateral partnership, across diverse sectors," said external affairs ministry.

India-Bhutan shares a 699-km-long International Border and adjoins states of Assam, Arunachal Pradesh, West Bengal and Sikkim.

Bhutan has time and again reiterated that it stands by India's security, and will not take any step that will compromise India's security. However, Bhutan and China have been holding border talks since 1984, and in 2021, they agreed to initiate a three-step measure to resolve the boundary dispute.

India is an important stakeholder in the border dispute between Bhutan and China, given the importance of the trijunction to India's security. There have been reports suggesting that China has been insisting on swapping territory with Bhutan by offering 495 sq km in the disputed Jakarlung and Pasamlung valleys in the north, with 269 sq km in the west at the Doklam trijunction that will provide it strategic control over Chumbi Valley having implications for India's security.

First Masters in energy transition begins at IIT-Delhi Abu Dhabi campus: Pradhan

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

Union education minister Dharmendra Pradhan meets UAE minister of foreign affairs Sheikh Abdullah bin Zayed Al Nahyan on Thursday | x

THE first master's course in energy transition and sustainability will commence in the newly set up IIT-Delhi-Abu Dhabi Campus from January 2024, announced Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Wednesday.

Pradhan, who is on a three-day visit to UAE, met the Minister of Foreign Affairs, UAE, Sheikh Abdullah Bin Zayed in Abu Dhabi.

The minister, who also visited the interim campus of the IIT Delhi-Abu Dhabi, housed at Zayed University, held "productive" discussions on further strengthening and carrying forward the two nations' multifaceted partnership.

"The primary focus of the meeting was the enduring friendship that has long connected India and UAE, as well as the robust comprehensive strategic partnership that encompasses various sectors, including exploring opportunities for collaboration, with a particular emphasis on the realm of education," read a statement from the ministry.

Describing the IIT Delhi-Abu Dhabi campus as "an exemplar of India-UAE friendship," Pradhan has announced the establishment of the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) office in the UAE.

Pradhan said the campus "is a testament of the common vision and priorities of the leadership of both our countries."

"The IIT Delhi-Abu Dhabi campus marks a significant stride in our efforts to internationalise India's education. It will open up a plethora of opportunities for leveraging the power of knowledge for mutual prosperity and global well-being," he added.

The minister also held discussions with Sara Musallam, Minister of State for Early Education and Chairperson.

He also visited Hub71, a global tech startup ecosystem in Abu Dhabi, calling it a vibrant community of innovators, entrepreneurs, and investors working together to shape a sustainable and prosperous future.

He highlighted industry partners, corporates, investors, mentors as well as government regulators that provide all the necessary support to nurture the spirit of enterprise and help start-ups scale exponentially.

"Such symbiotic and enabling ecosystems with a whole-of-society approach are key towards realising the full entrepreneurial and innovative potential of a country," he said.

Caste calculus: Rajbhar, 3 others set to join Yogi team on November 12

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP is likely to induct some faces from its ally, the Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party, into the UP cabinet ahead of the next Lok Sabha elections due early next year. The induction of OP Rajbhar, the SBSP chief, and three others in the UP cabinet, headed by CM Yogi Adityanath, is likely to take place by November 12 after consultation among BJP's central committee members.

"Two meetings of UP BJP leaders, involving CM Yogi Adityanath and his deputies, with party chief and Home Minister Amit Shah have already taken place in the last two days. The party leaders from UP and the party's central unit reportedly discussed how to accommodate the ally and others in the cabinet," said a senior party functionary on Thursday.

Party sources said the induction of the ally into the cabinet would have a wider electoral impact for the NDA-led BJP in UP in the 2024 LS elections.

At an event over the party's new extension building, the first meeting of UP BJP leaders with central leadership took place. The meeting focused on a wider discussion on the proposed UP cabinet reshuffle.

While speaking to the media, OP Rajbhar said he was hopeful of getting a berth in the UP cabinet. He said the UP CM and deputy CMs also had a meeting with BJP central leaders who would decide on accommodating the ally.

Speaking on NDA's electoral prospects in UP in 2024, Rajbhar said that the alliance would win all 80 seats from UP as opposition parties have been fighting with each other.

BJP sources say Rajbhar's induction has "almost been "okayed" at the BJP meeting held on Thursday.

Amid the buzz over Yogi team's reshuffle, sources said the state cabinet expansion would likely take place by November 12 and that three more would be made ministers. Sources said the party wanted to accommodate Rajbhar and others in a bid to polarise OBCs and others castes.

Rajbhar has also hinted that a final word on cabinet expansion would be available on November 7. Late Thursday evening, a BJP source hinted that a consensus on Dara Singh Chouhan was emerging for a cabinet berth in the Yogi cabinet.

Chouhan had recently joined the BJP around the time Rajbhar quit the SP. Chouhan was the minister in the previous Yogi cabinet. However, he joined the SP during the last assembly elections after quitting the BJP.

New entrants likely in UP cabinet

Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party chief OP Rajbhar said he was hopeful of getting a berth in the UP cabinet. He said Yogi Adityanath and deputy CMs also had a meeting with BJP central leaders who would decide on accommodating the ally. A BJP source hinted that consensus on Dara Singh Chouhan was also emerging for a cabinet berth. Chouhan had recently joined the BJP around the time Rajbhar quit the SP.

Blinken, Austin to attend 2+2 in Delhi on Nov 9

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin will travel to New Delhi next week for the '2+2' meeting with External Affairs Minister Dr S Jaishankar and Defence Minister Rajnath Singh. The meeting is likely to take place on November 9.

"During the interactions, Secretary Blinken and Austin will discuss both bilateral and global concerns and developments in the Indo-Pacific," said US State Department spokesperson Matthew Miller.

Dr Jaishankar met with Secretary Blinken in the US in September.

In the upcoming 2+2 meeting, discussions will focus on the conflict between Israel and Palestine, the humanitarian crisis, upcoming elections in Bangladesh where the US has a special interest. Talks on China will also be on the agenda, according to sources.

There is a possibility of Canada emerging as a topic of discussion, as there has been much speculation about the US response to the accusation made by Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau regarding the killing of slain Khalistani terrorist Hardeep Singh Nijjar.

Meanwhile, the 2+2 meeting comes ahead of the much-speculated Quad Summit that India will host this year. There is speculation that the Quad Summit will be held in Delhi on January 27. The US hasn't confirmed whether President Joe Biden will be visiting India in January, so there is no certainty about the dates.

The possibility of the Quad being held in January 2024, which is primarily subject to President Biden's confirmation, will also be part of the discussions.

The 2+2 ministerial dialogue is the highest level of stock-taking between India and the US, encompassing a range of issues from defence deals, visas, cybersecurity, health, geopolitics, and diplomacy.

Meanwhile, Secretary Blinken will travel to Tel Aviv, Amman, Tokyo and Seoul before arriving in Delhi.

"In Israel, Secretary Blinken will reiterate US support for Israel to defend itself against terrorism in keeping with international humanitarian law and discuss efforts to safeguard US citizens in Israel. They will discuss the immediate release of hostages and increase the pace of humanitarian assistance in Gaza," Miller added.

Blinken will also visit Jordan, where he will underscore the importance of protecting civilian lives and their shared commitment to facilitating the increased sustained delivery of humanitarian assistance and ensuring that Palestinians aren't forcibly displaced from Gaza while ensuring the resumption of essential services.

"Secretary Blinken will address pressing issues, promote peace, ease tensions, and reiterate the US commitment to fostering a lasting Middle East peace, including a Palestinian state," Miller noted.

The 2+2 ministerial dialogue is a diplomatic meeting that has been held every year since 2018 between the ministers of foreign affairs and defence of India and the US.

Economic growth, job creation at heart of 2+2

In June 2017, during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Washington DC, India and the United States officially launched the 2+2 Ministerial dialogue. This replaced the previous India-US Strategic and Commercial Dialogue, which focused on economic growth, job creation, business climate, and global order based on rules and norms. The 2+2 Dialogue represents a significant strengthening of bilateral ties, with two ministers from each country discussing strategic and security interests at various levels. The dialogue primarily centers on strategic, defence, and security relations. India is represented by its External Affairs Minister and Defence Minister, while the United States is represented by the Secretary of State and Defense Secretary. This format underscores India's importance as a political and military partner for the United States and their collaboration on global issues. The inaugural 2+2 Dialogue resulted in the COMCASA agreement, granting India access to secure American technologies and further enhancing their strategic and defence cooperation. This agreement marks a substantial step forward in their partnership, enabling them to tackle shared challenges and pursue common objectives globally.

■ BJP promises MBBS, engineering studies in Hindi language in C'garh ■ Congress takes up unfulfilled promises by MNF in Mizoram

Cong has neglected tribals, OBCs in Chhattisgarh: Modi

Tribals were always deprived, the poor neglected and the OBCs slurred under Congress rule. The promises made by Congress are hollow guarantees as they often are not fulfilled despite taking oath of Gangajal

Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN a fiery speech during the BJP's 'Vijay Sankalp Maharally' in Chhattisgarh's Kanker district, Prime Minister Narendra Modi took an aim at the Congress on Thursday, accusing them of corruption, neglecting tribal communities, and showing disrespect to the Other Backward Classes (OBCs).

As Chhattisgarh gears up for elections, PM Modi emphasised that the Congress and development cannot coexist.

PM Modi lamented that under Congress rule, tribals remained marginalised, the poor were overlooked, and OBCs were disparaged. He criticised the Congress for making empty promises that often went unfulfilled, despite oaths taken with the sacred Gangajal. He urged the people to vote for the BJP to protect the interests of tribals, the poor, and the underprivileged. He particularly pointed out the Congress's opposition to a tribal daughter, Droupadi Murmu, assuming the position of President, calling on the state's tribals to seek revenge for this insult.

Accusing the Bhupesh Baghel government of rampant corruption and nepotism, PM Modi vowed that those who had looted the state would face consequences and be made to return ill-gotten gains after the BJP returned to power.

PM Modi emphasised that this election was not just about electing MLAs or ministers but about shaping the future of the youth, who had been deceived by Congress in various ways, such as manipulating the state's Public Service Commission.

He accused the Congress of engaging in corruption related to cows, liquor, and coal levy, and alleged that nepotism and corruption were inherent in the Congress's policy.

To make education more accessible, he announced that MBBS and engineering courses would be taught in Hindi. He reiterated that the Congress's claims of exclusive paddy procurement by the state government were false.

In response, the Congress labeled PM Modi's claims as a "bundle of lies."

In 2018 elections, it was ₹1 lakh NLUP (New Land Use Policy) versus ₹3 lakh SEDP. The Mizo National Front won through SEDP and they will now lose because of it

Lalsawta, State Congress president

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Aizawl

THE Congress said that the much-hyped Socio-Economic Development Programme (SEDP) that kept ruling Mizo National Front (MNF) afloat in 2018 might sink the party's proverbial ship in this Mizoram election.

State Congress president Lalsawta said that the MNF unseated the grand old party in the last election by promising ₹3 lakh to each beneficiary of SEDP, a flagship programme, but ended up giving only ₹25,000.

"In 2018 elections, it was ₹1 lakh NLUP (New Land Use Policy) versus ₹3 lakh SEDP. The MNF won through SEDP and they will now lose because of it," said Lalsawta. He claimed that the promise of ₹3 lakh under SEDP was the main reason behind Congress' defeat in the last election.

NLUP was a flagship programme of the previous Congress government, under which financial assistance of ₹1 lakh was provided to beneficiaries to generate self-employment.

The BJP has promised to set up a special investigation team to probe alleged irregularities in the implementation of SEDP. Lalsawta felt the polls would be keenly contested. "It is going to be a tough fight. Issues have changed because the BJP is intending to shut (ally) MNF and align with Zoram People's Movement. They (BJP and MNF) are attacking each other," he said.

He claimed that as per the reported understanding between BJP and ZPM, former Assembly Speaker Lalrinliana Sailo of ZPM would be appointed as the deputy chief minister, if the two parties form the next government.

"But Mizos are Christians and they don't like BJP's agenda. People will reject ZPM because it has tied up with BJP. MNF is a gone case, for people are disappointed with its performance and they won't give it another term," Lalsawta claimed. He was confident the Congress would return to power, stating that people are convinced it would never walk together with BJP. He claimed the Congress' poll prospects brightened after the BJP-ZPM secret partnership came to light.

Lalsawta says Mizos are Christians and they don't like BJP's agenda. People will reject ZPM because it has tied up with the BJP.

AMU likely to have its own satellite

If all goes as per its plan, the Aligarh Muslim University will soon have its satellite. The Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre, under the Department of Space, has approved a proposal for development of the varsity's first satellite, to be named after its founder Sir Syed Ahmad Khan. "The SS AMU SAT is a nanosatellite project which began in November 2021 under AMU Robo Club. It is a 3U CubeSat with multiple objectives, including the study of economic growth in India's poorest districts using satellite imagery and implementation of an in-house developed image compression technology for faster multimedia transmission," said Prof Ekram Khan.

2 ED officers held; Dotasra's son summoned

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE Enforcement Directorate is widening its actions in Rajasthan. Following their investigation into CM Ashok Gehlot's son Vaibhav, they've now issued notices to State Congress President Govind Singh Dotasra's sons, Abhilash and Avinash Dotasra, for questioning.

As the controversy over ED raids simmers, the Rajasthan Anti-Corruption Bureau arrested an ED official, Naval Kishore Meena, along with his associate in Alwar on Thursday. The ACB claims to have caught the ED Inspector when he was demanding ₹17 lakh from the victim in the name of settlement and other facilities in the case of a chit fund company in Manipur.

Abhilash is scheduled for questioning on November 7, and Avinash on November 8, with a joint session on November 9. This development is linked to alleged irregularities in recruitment examination papers during Govind Singh Dotasra's tenure as Education Minister.

The ED had previously conducted raids in Jaipur and Sikar.

In another case, Vaibhav faced ED questioning on October 30, tied to alleged Foreign Exchange Management Act violations.

Raje aides accommodated in BJP's 3rd list of 58 candidates in Rajasthan

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

IN the third list of candidates for Rajasthan on Thursday, the BJP announced 58 contenders, taking the total number of party candidates to 182. The party declared 41 candidates in the first list and 83 in the second.

A strong influence of former Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje is discernible in the new list, as it was in the previous candidate roster declared on October 21.

As many as 30 of the 58 candidates declared on Thursday are said to belong to the Raje camp, much against the first list that appeared to show a "diminished" role of the Raje faction. However, nominations of some prominent Raje supporters such as former state BJP chief Ashok Parnami and about a dozen other supporters have been cancelled. However, Raje was successful in getting the ticket for 13 of her loyalists.

Additionally, the ticket of Yunus Khan, a former cabinet minister, a Raje aide, and the only Muslim face of the party in the previous election, has been revoked for Tonk constituency.

Out of 182 party candidates, the BJP has not selected a single Muslim leader. Khan, who contested from Tonk, was the sole Muslim candidate of the party in the 2018 polls. In a significant move, the saffron party has chosen Mahendra Singh Rathore as its candidate for the Sardarpura assembly seat, pitting him against CM, Ashok Gehlot.

Ajit Singh Mehta has been nominated for the Tonk seat, challenging the former Deputy CM of the state, Sachin Pilot. Interestingly, Jagat Singh, the son of former Congress stalwart Natwar Singh, has found a place in the current list and has been fielded from the Nadbai seat in Bharatpur.

Hindutva figure Bal Mukund Acharya is the party candidate for the Hawamahal seat in Jaipur. The party has also chosen Jai Ahuja as its candidate for the Ramgarh seat, succeeding Gyandev Ahuja, known for his controversial statements.

BJP has not selected any Muslim candidate

The ticket of Yunus Khan, a former cabinet minister, a Raje aide, and the only Muslim face of the party in the previous election, has been revoked for Tonk constituency. Out of 182 party candidates, the BJP has not selected a single Muslim leader.

No dispute over candidate selection: Raj Cong chief

AS Rajasthan is gearing up for assembly polls on November 25, state Congress president Govind Singh Dotasra speaks to Preetha Nair about the prospects of the party, asserting that the Congress would remain united to challenge the BJP in the polls. Excerpts:

Would you be able to break the 30-year-old tradition of not repeating governments in Rajasthan?
I am confident that Congress will retain power as the government does not face anti-incumbency. The public has reposed faith in our record of good governance and implementation of several welfare schemes such as the revival of the old pension scheme, gas cylinder subsidy, and free electricity up to 100 units, among other things. The infighting in the BJP will also work in our favour.

Congress has announced four lists of candidates. Is there any disquiet among the cadre about the selection of candidates?
We have gone about the selection process of candidates based on surveys and feedback. Though we have retained sitting MLAs in the first two lists, in the third list, we have experimented with new and younger candidates. The candidates are selected through an exhaustive process and the list is further filtered by the screening committee. We have dropped MLAs who are facing anti-incumbency.

There is still no clarity over whether the three leaders, Mahesh Joshi, Shanti Dhariwal, and Dharmendra Rathore will get the ticket. Is there any rift?
There is no such dispute on their candidature. The candidates are decided on the sole criterion of winnability. No other consideration is there.

Are you also in the race for the CM's post? Your posters have appeared recently...
There are posters of four-five important leaders. It is quite natural. The party wants all leaders to go together and everyone is important.

Is Ashok Gehlot the CM candidate? Recently he remarked that the CM post is not leaving him...
The CM must have commented in some context. I don't want to comment on it. The high command decided that all leaders would fight together in the election. The rest will be decided by the high command after the election.

You and your sons are also being called by the Enforcement Directorate (ED)...
It is the BJP's strategy of distraction. They want to put pressure on us and create a perception that the government is corrupt. But it doesn't work and people are watching. No summons were issued in the last three years, So why now? Though they called me, no questions were asked.

There is now a truce between Gehlot and Sachin Pilot. Many say that core issues are yet to be addressed. Your comments.
Pilot and Gehlot have buried the hatchet and there won't be any issues now. We stand united in this election.

Gujarat CM's visit to Delhi sparks speculation on state unit overhaul

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

WITH Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel visiting Delhi — a day after the two-day visit by Prime Minister Narendra Modi to his home state — and meeting Union Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP president J P Nadda among others, speculations are rife of a possible overhaul in Gujarat's BJP organisational set up.

According to sources, apart Patel and Nadda, BJP national organisation general secretary BL Santhosh was also present at Shah's official residence in Delhi. Observers say the presence of Santhosh was noteworthy as last time when he attended a meeting with the Gujarat BJP leaders, there were significant changes in the state leadership. Moreover, former chief minister Vijay Rupani's cabinet was changed when Sathosh visited Gujarat.

The Gujarat chief minister was accompanied by the state BJP president CR Patil and state BJP organisation general secretary Ratnakar. Importantly, this is the third time since July that the three senior leaders had visited the national capital. Recently, Union Home Minister Amit Shah held marathon meetings with chief minister Patel and state BJP president Patil in Gandhinagar. The performance of state ministers was reviewed during the meetings, said sources. Although there is no official information over the chief minister's visit to Delhi, according to sources, the recent Vibrant Gujarat summit and upcoming assembly elections in neighbouring Rajasthan could have also been discussed.

Prime Minister Modi, in his two-day visit, inaugurated and laid the foundation stone for development projects worth around ₹5,950 crore in the northern region of the state. A major chunk of these projects, worth around ₹5,130 crore, were related to the railways. Gujarat sends 26 members to Parliament. In the last Lok Sabha elections, all 26 seats went into BJP's kitty.

'Dust particles major source of minerals to sea'

"INTERESTINGLY, the isotope signature of the first storm resembled the other dust samples collected over the central Arabian Sea, thus signifying the importance of dust outbreaks from the Arabian Peninsula contributing mineral dust during winter," Sunil Kumar Singh said.

The study highlights the importance of dust storms in the Middle East on the Arabian Sea during winter. "These dust particles are the major source of minerals and nutrients to the sea fuelling productivity in the region and helping sequester the atmospheric CO2," he said.

The southern region of the Antarctic Ocean, which is around 30% of the global ocean, is called the desert of the ocean because it has low productivity. "Dust comes from land and doesn't reach this region. Scientists are planning to do iron fertilisation through spraying tonnes of desert dust into the ocean to help increase productivity and carbon sequestration," Singh said.

Mamata slams health facilities in state after being treated 'wrongly'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

RAISING questions about the competency of the healthcare system in a state-run hospital, Mamata Banerjee's remark that her infection had become "septic" due to "wrong treatment" triggered a political row as opposition parties highlighted the sorry state of the state's medical infrastructure—a department that the chief minister oversees directly.

After visiting Nabanna, the state secretariat, on Wednesday, following a nearly two-month break due to her knee injury issues, Mamata said, "My infection became septic because of wrong treatment. Saline channels were inserted into my arms, and I was in that situation for seven days. I could not get up."

Mamata, who is also the health minister of the state, was treated at SSKM Hospital, one of Kolkata's premier healthcare institutions, after she sustained injuries to her knee while disembarking from a helicopter during the campaign for panchayat elections.

BJP MLA and Leader of the Opposition, Suvendu Adhikari, who defeated Mamata in Nandigram in the 2021 Assembly elections, demanded her resignation as the state's health minister.

"This is the fallout of an attempt to turn the most prestigious state-run hospital into a safe haven for Trinamool Congress thieves. The chief minister herself expressed the standard of treatment at the super-specialty hospital. Under the tenure of the incompetent health minister, doctors are forced to focus more on preparing fake documents under administrative pressure than on treating patients," Adhikari said.

Echoing Adhikari's demand for Mamata's resignation as the health minister, BJP MP and former state party president Dilip Ghosh said, "If this is the treatment our chief minister receives at a state-run hospital, imagine the plight of common people who have no option left but to visit government hospitals. CPI(M)'s Sujan Chakrabarty said the chief minister's confession reflects the real healthcare picture in West Bengal.

BJP demands CM's resignation

BJP MLA Suvendu Adhikari, who defeated Mamata in Nandigram in the 2021 Assembly elections, demanded her resignation as the state's health minister. "This is the fallout of an attempt to turn the most prestigious state-run hospital into a safe haven for Trinamool Congress thieves," said Adhikari.

5 dead as Western Europe battered by record winds

PARIS

FIVE people were killed by falling trees as Storm Ciaran battered Western Europe on Thursday, bringing record winds as high as 200 kilometres per hour, floods, blackouts and major travel disruptions.

Some 1.2 million French homes lost electricity overnight as the storm lashed the northwest coast, and most remained without power on Thursday. Falling trees killed a lorry driver in his vehicle in France's Aisne region, a man in the Dutch town of Venray, a woman in central Madrid, a person in Germany and another person in the Belgian city of Ghent, police reports said.

"The wind gusts are exceptional in Brittany and many absolute records have been broken," Meteo-France, the national weather service, said on X (formerly Twitter).

The prefect for the local department said gusts as high as 207 km/hour were recorded at Pointe du Raz on the tip of the northwest coast, while the port city of Brest saw winds hit 156 km/hour. In southern England, hundreds of schools were closed as large waves powered by winds of 135 km/hour crashed along the coastline.

On the Channel Island of Jersey, residents had to be evacuated to hotels overnight as gusts of up to 164 km/hour damaged homes.

The Netherlands urged people to stay home and more than 200 flights were cancelled at Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport, a major European hub.

Air, rail and ferry services saw cancellations and long delays across several countries.

Roosmarijn Knol, weather forecaster for Dutch public broadcaster NOS, said the timing of the storm was important. "Due to a warm autumn with a lot of rain, trees still have their leaves, and the ground is as wet as a sponge," said Knol. "Therefore, especially weak trees have a good chance of falling over. That is a big difference from an autumn storm at, say, the end of November, when all the leaves have already fallen." AFP

Diplomatic push to pause Hamas-Israel fighting

Biden calls for humanitarian ceasefire, Blinken to tour West Asia again

RAFAH

ISRAELI troops advanced toward Gaza City on Thursday, as the Gaza authorities claimed that the Palestinian death toll rose above 9,000. With no end in sight after weeks of heavy fighting, US and Arab mediators intensified efforts to ease Israel's siege of the Hamas-ruled enclave and called for at least a brief halt to the hostilities in order to aid civilians.

US President Joe Biden suggested a humanitarian "pause" the day before, as an apparent agreement among the US, Egypt, Israel and Qatar, which mediates with Hamas, allowed hundreds of Palestinians with foreign passports and dozens of wounded to leave Gaza for the first time. Dozens more left on Thursday.

Israel did not immediately respond to Biden's remarks, but Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has previously ruled out a cease-fire.

Arab countries, including those allied with the US and at peace with Israel, have expressed mounting unease with the war. Jordan recalled its ambassador from Israel and told Israel's envoy to remain out of the country until there's a halt to the war and the "humanitarian catastrophe" it is causing.

More than 3,700 Palestinian children have been killed in 25 days of fighting, and bombings have driven more than half the territory's 2.3 million people from their homes, while food, water and fuel run low.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said he would seek "concrete measures" from Israel to minimise harm to Gaza civilians as he headed on his second crisis trip to the Middle East since a Hamas assault triggered a war.

"We will be talking about concrete steps that can and should be taken to minimize harm to men, women and children in Gaza," Blinken told reporters as he flew out of Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington.

"This is something that the United States is committed to," he said a day before he will hold his latest meeting with Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu.

"When I see a Palestinian child — a boy, a girl pulled from the rubble of a collapsed building — that hits me in the gut as much as seeing a child in Israel or anywhere else," Blinken said.

A group of UN human rights experts, including the special rapporteur on the occupied Palestinian territories, said Thursday "time is running out to prevent genocide in Gaza". "We remain convinced that the Palestinian people are at grave risk of genocide," the experts said.

Hundreds more foreign nationals flee Gaza

RAFAH

HUNDREDS more foreigners and dual nationals fled war-torn Gaza for Egypt Thursday as Israeli forces bombarded and fought ground battles in the besieged Palestinian territory, where thousands died.

Egypt said it eventually plans to help evacuate 7,000 foreigners through the Rafah crossing and a spokesman for the Palestinian side of the border post said about 100 had been able to leave Thursday.

A total of 400 foreign passport holders as well as 60 severely wounded Palestinians in ambulances were due to cross by the end of the second day of departures, Wael Abu Mohsen said, and Egyptian officials later reported the first arrivals.

A list of those approved to travel Thursday shows hundreds of US citizens and 50 Belgians along with smaller numbers from various European, Arab, Asian and African countries.

"There was no food, no water, no gas, nowhere to take shelter," said US passport holder Salma Shaath, 14, as she prepared to cross.

"People were going to hospitals to sleep, there are a lot of martyrs, there is no internet, no communications and no electricity. Our house was bombed ... so we came here to Rafah."

The evacuation marks a tiny proportion of the 2.4 million people trapped in Gaza under weeks of bombardment since Hamas launched their bloody cross-border attack into Israel on October 7.

Britain said it had begun sending 30 tonnes of aid to Egypt — such as forklift trucks, belt conveyors and lighting towers — to help Rafah process humanitarian aid deliveries faster.

Gaza's hospitals have been overwhelmed and run short of medical supplies and even electricity.

Violence has also flared in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, where more than 130 Palestinians have died since October 7 according to the Palestinian health ministry.

Three Palestinians were killed Thursday by Israeli fire in the West Bank, the ministry said, and an Israeli was killed in a Palestinian shooting attack. In Gaza, more than 20,000 people are wounded. Agencies

Changes in NPS by year-end: Official

Centre considering pension plan based on 40-50% of employee's last drawn basic salary

MONIKA YADAV @Chennai

FINANCE ministry plans to announce changes in the National Pension Scheme (NPS) for the government employees by the end of the year.

According to a top government official, the Centre is considering adopting the Andhra Pradesh model, which guarantees a pension based on 40-50% of the employee's last drawn basic salary. The proposed scheme will be market-linked, with the government filling any shortfall in the pension corpus. Employees will continue to contribute as before, while the government's contribution will increase.

"The new scheme will be announced by year-end. The committee is working on the modalities of the scheme which is majorly based on Andhra Pradesh model. It will be market-linked and the centre will ensure that the pensioners get 40-50% of their last drawn salary," a top official stated.

Currently, employees contribute 10% of their basic salary to NPS while, the Government puts in 14% towards the employees' NPS account. However, it is unclear if the new scheme will be inflation-linked like the Andhra scheme. The committee headed by the finance secretary is expected to discuss this further in their upcoming meeting.

As per sources, there is pressure from BJP-ruled states to amend the National Pension System and introduce a scheme similar to the old pension system to appeal to voters before elections.

Some of the non-BJP-ruled states such as Himachal Pradesh, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, Punjab and Jharkhand have already gone back to the old pension system, under which states bear a higher burden of the pension paid to its employees.

Under Andhra's guaranteed pension scheme, pensioners receive 50% of their last drawn basic salary along with DA, which is inflation-linked. Under Andhra's guaranteed pension scheme, pensioners receive 50% of their last drawn basic salary along with DA, which is inflation-linked.

According to the data available with the Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA), the regulator of the National Pension System (NPS), state and central government employees account for 79% of the ₹9 lakh crore asset under management of National Pension Scheme . The number of subscribers under various schemes under the NPS was 6.3 crore as of March 31, 2023. Out of total subscribers, the state government employees stood at 60.72 lakh, while central government e ployees were at 23.86 lakh.

CERT-In begins probe into Apple threat message

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

CERT-In, a cybersecurity investigation unit under the Ministry of Electronics and IT, has begun its probe into the Apple warning message sent to several Opposition party Members of Parliament, said IT Secretary S Krishnan on Thursday.

Krishnan, while speaking to the media, also mentioned that a notice has been sent to the American tech-giant. "CERT-In has started its probe... they (Apple) will cooperate in this probe," said Krishnan.

Earlier this week, parliamentarians including Shiv Sena (UBT) MP Priyanka Chaturvedi, Trinamool Congress' Mahua Moitra, Aam Aadmi Party's Raghav Chadha, and Congress' Shashi Tharoor shared screenshots of warning messages reading a hacking attempt made by state-sponsored attackers on their social media platforms. These individuals have alleged the government is conducting surveillance on them.

The government warded off the charges, and said it asked Apple to participate in the probe to determine the reason behind this message. Minister of Electronics and IT Ashwini Vaishnaw said the government takes its role in safeguarding privacy and security of all citizens seriously and is committed to investigating these notifications to uncover the truth.

Australia's Marsh flies back home

AHMEDABAD: In-form Australia all-rounder Mitchell Marsh left for home on Thursday due to personal reasons for an indefinite period, dealing yet another blow to the team, already hit by Glenn Maxwell's unavailability for the next match against England due to concussion. Marsh could be out of the whole event.

I think Ajay (Jadeja) brings a lot of experience having played a lot of cricket in India. He's always a good sounding board with regards to conditions, venues & the other subcontinent teams.

Bumrah, Shami and Siraj deliver bowling masterclass as India seal 302-run victory over Sri Lanka to seal semifinal berth

DONE & DUSTED IN TEN OVERS

Defending 358, Indian pacers reduced SL to 14/6 during the first powerplay. A look...

0.1 Jasprit Bumrah bowls a dream outswinger to trap Pathum Nissanka on the pads on the very first delivery of the innings. Umpires call meant India have their way. SL — 0/1

1.1 Mohammed Siraj joins the party, hitting Dimuth Karunaratne on the pads from over the wicket. SL — 2/2

1.5 With the ball doing its bit, Rohit Sharma does his by having three slips. Having beaten handsdown previously, Sadeera Samarawickrama pushes at a wide delivery from Siraj tentatively only to edge it to the slips. SL — 2/3

3.1 Another perfect outswinger, this time from Siraj. The ball pitches on middle-and-off shapes away to clip the top of off-stump. Kusal Mendis takes the long walk. SL — 3/4

9.3 Survived Siraj and Bumrah, Mohammed Shami will have you. Charith Asalanka tries to break free, but ends up slashing Shami straight to Ravindra Jadeja at point. SL — 14/5

9.4 Good length from Shami and Dushan Hemantha only manages to nick it to KL Rahul behind stumps. The pacer is on a hat-trick. SL — 14/6

BOWLED & BEAUTIFUL

ON a scale of 1-10, this was a 11. Fire emojis one after the other. Illegal at some level, even. Bowling from the dream factory. A pace masterpiece in front of a sea of blue. A sense of dejavu had already engulfed the Wankhede Stadium long before the final Sri Lankan batter had trudged back to the pavilion. The last time these two sides met, they were bowled out for 50 as Mohammed Siraj went on the charge (6/21). Roughly 45 days later, they hoodwinked the same opposition (including each of the top five from that game).

Thanks for showing up to try and chase 358 when the ball is about to do crazy things in the Mumbai twilight as Rohit Sharma had predicted at the toss. Sorry but not sorry for what's about to happen. 1/1, 2/2, 3/2, 4/3, 5/14, 6/14, 7/22, 8/29, 9/49, 10/55. To watch it all unfold was to be caught up in a fevered dream. A trance.

Even for a fast-bowling attack that has developed military-grade weapons over the last few years, this was pretty close to perfection. Said road to perfection began the very first ball. Jasprit Bumrah's opening spells have been on the money at this World Cup and his first ball on Thursday night was on the spot. It landed on length before curving away like a very fast leg-spinner. Pathum Nissanka's bat was in a different postcode and the umpire adjudged him leg-before. He could have had next man Kusal Mendis multiple times over the next five legal deliveries but the captain survived.

It didn't matter as Mendis failed to pick an angled Mohammed Siraj ball that was delivered from wide of the crease. Having seen the ball move corners, Mendis was unsure so he didn't budget for the way it straightened and breached through his defences before hitting the top of off. Chef's kiss.

Siraj had already picked up two wickets on the night. The first was Dimuth Karunaratne, a red-ball specialist. While Siraj is more expensive because of the way he attacks the stumps, this is why he does what he does. His very first ball was full before getting some late inward movement into the southpaw. He was still completing his flick after the ball had hit the pads and the umpire had the easiest decision of the night to make. Unlike some of the other batters in this line-up, Sadeera Samarawickrama came into this match with some runs. But the No. 4, hung on for three balls, before wafting at something that could have been left alone. Shreyas Iyer did the rest at third slip. Credit must also go to Rohit Sharma who had brought in a third catcher in the cordon after seeing the way the ball was moving. The over read W000W0.

Having Bumrah and Siraj in these conditions is a blessing because of their understanding of what works and what doesn't. Having Mohammed Shami in these conditions is basically troll mode. While some of the other bowlers experiment with the wobble and cross seam, Shami is a delightful throwback. He keeps the seam upright and almost always hits the stumps as well as challenges both edges because of the movement he manages to extract. At 4/14 after nine overs, the Sri Lankan batters may have relaxed a touch. Rohit had taken Bumrah off the attack but Shami was marking his run-up. LOL. He had come into the match, having taken nine wickets in two World Cup games. Three balls into his spell, he had taken his 10th. Charith Asalanka decided to chase a wide delivery but only ended up giving a simple catch to Ravindra Jadeja at backward point. A minute later, Shami's skyward-pointing right hand was out again.

Angelo Mathews hung on for a brief while but his stumps were rearranged by another Shami beauty. It was full before some late inward movement did the batter. 8/29. Just when it seemed like they would set some unwanted batting records, some streaky boundaries saved them. But Shami had enough time to pick his second fifer of the competition before Ravindra Jadeja picked up the final wicket.

Brief scores: India 357/8 in 50 ovs (Kohli 88, Gill 92, Iyer 82; Madhushanka 5/80) bt Sri Lanka 55 all out in 19.4 ovs (Rajitha 14; Shami 5/18, Siraj 3/16).

Mohammed Shami picked up a fifer against Sri Lanka on Thursday | PTI

Mostly it's all about man management at this level. They (Bumrah, Shami and Siraj) have played enough cricket, honestly. They understand bowling inside out. Not much in terms of the technical bit but the tactical bit. It all looks nice when the planning is executed. If you execute your plans (properly) this is what happens. The credit goes to them. — Bowling coach Paras Mhambrey when asked to comment on how much of what we see is coaching and how much is man management

Runs and roses for batters in Mumbai

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Mumbai

WITH the past of Indian cricket watching on from the stands and in the form of a life-size statue, India's present and future came together to help the team post a total of 357/8 against Sri Lanka on Thursday. Under hot conditions, Virat Kohli, who threatened to equal Sachin Tendulkar's record of 49 ODI 100s, and Shubman Gill put on 189 runs for the second wicket in well over run-a-ball.

By the time the latter was dismissed for 92, batting had become easy. But the pair, two supreme artists in this form of the game, had to become artisans for a period of time. At 1/4 after 0.2 balls (Rohit Sharma had just lost his off stump), Kohli wasn't going to have it his way. On a surface with some early movement, he had to survive some scares, especially against the returning Dushmantha Chameera. With the odd ball stopping, the 34-year-old was also struggling. Gill too had played out a maiden as the Sri Lankan pacers had found a good spot to extract some seam movement on an ice-cream-melting-in-a-matter-of-seconds kind of afternoon.

One of the weather apps said 'real feel 38*c', a few rungs above the 36*c Mumbai was recording at 3.00 PM on Thursday. To make matters worse, the Air Quality Index was pegged at an 'unhealthy' by the same weather app. Sri Lanka, though, decided they wanted to field first. Just how brutal were the conditions? Kohli, a good barometer for fitness, was slightly out of breath after running a two. The support staff were frequently running drinks to ensure both batters were hydrated. At one point in the first phase of the innings, Ishan Kishan had brought out a big umbrella and a couple of chairs to ensure both Kohli and Gill had momentary respite while fluids on board.

Ironically, once both batters were set, those were the only times when the bowlers were also not feeling the heat from the broad blades of Kohli and Gill. While Kohli's 88 is a continuation of the kind of year he has had, Gill's 92 in as many balls would have pleased the management. He has had a few cameos to his credit but that big score was lacking. Considering he's just coming back after a bout of dengue, lasting more than two hours in these conditions shows that his body has recovered.

If Gill's 92 would have brought a smile to the dressing room, Shreyas Iyer's 56-ball 82 would have released the pressure valve that was building on the No. 4. There was pressure because some outside noise suggested that given Mohammed Shami's form, Iyer's place was under threat if and when Hardik Pandya returned from injury. Like Gill, Iyer too has looked good without a big contribution. This, though, is what he's all about. While Sri Lanka's pacers opted to not test him out against the short ball (a well-documented shortcoming), the local boy feasted on anything that was pitched up to him. It also kind of showed why even as he was recovering from injury, the management didn't waver from him as their preferred option at No. 4. Crucially, he's an ultra-aggressive option against spin in the middle-overs. Overall, both Gill and Shreyas getting runs will bode well for future challenges, beginning with the match against South Africa in Kolkata. Consider this. Before the game against England at Lucknow, Rohit and Kohli had made almost 57 per cent of all the runs the team had made sans extras. While it showed that the team's two elder statesmen were in form, it had left the middle-order with little to do. Was it going to be a problem going forward?

KL Rahul was asked this very question ahead of the game at Lucknow. "No, I don't think it is a concern," the keeper had said. "It is a very good thing when your senior players are making runs and are in form. That is what you expect from players like Rohit and Virat. I know that big scores have not been scored, hundreds have not been scored apart from Virat and Rohit. But that is the challenge for the other guys. Team is winning so we're not really worried but whenever anyone gets a chance, I'm sure they will put their hands up."

Spirited Afghanistan face Dutch challenge

AGENCIES @ Lucknow

THEY have already registered their best World Cup performance so far but spirited Afghanistan's quest to reach the next level starts in earnest against an equally inspirational Netherlands on Friday.

Starting as favourites on a tricky Ekana Stadium surface, with a quality spin attack at its disposal, Afghanistan (6 points) will not only look to secure two points against the Dutch (4 points) but also aim to win big and improve the net run-rate in its bid to remain relevant in the race to semifinal.

The manner in which Afghanistan's top-order batted to outclass sides like Pakistan and Sri Lanka, it showed that the victory against defending champions England wasn't a mere flash in the pan.

The 'Orange Army', too have been a surprise package, securing upset wins over South Africa and Bangladesh. It has put them ahead of Bangladesh and bottom-rung England in the 10-team standings to keep a slender semifinal qualification hopes alive.

Clash of giant slayers

With three wins behind them, Hashmatullah Shahidi-led side take on Netherlands in Lucknow. A look...

CAN AFGHANISTAN MARCH ON?

They have beaten Pakistan, Sri Lanka and England. Now, up against Netherlands, Afghanistan need a big win for them to stay alive in the contention for top four. While they have tough challenge in the last two games, first step would be bagging two points against the Scott Edwards-led side.

CHANCE FOR NETHERLANDS

They might not have known about the Champions Trophy qualification earlier, but now every win counts. After beating Bangladesh, Netherlands would want to continue their winning run. Finishing in the top-seven will ensure them the same.

Is this time for (South) Africa?

KALYANI MANGALE @ Pune

"I WAS speaking to Heinrich Klaasen just now in the change room and we probably left a few runs out there still." This is how Rassie van der Dussen, player of the Match , explained South Africa's mentality after scoring 357 runs against New Zealand and winning the clash by 190 runs at the Maharashtra Cricket Association Stadium. While Proteas top-order soaked all the pressure early in the innings, it was their bowlers who never gave any sniffing chance to the Kiwis to get anywhere close to the total with Marco Jansen going after the top order and Keshav Maharaj doing his job in the middle overs.

Except for their loss against Netherlands, where they had a collective brain freeze while chasing the modest total, South Africa seem to have a blueprint of sorts with bat and ball. Weather the storm in the opening overs to set the foundation. Change gears at around midway point and cash as much as they can in the last ten overs. And this plan has been perfected by the presence of Quinton de Kock who has scored 545 runs in this edition of the World Cup, 100 runs clear of the next top scorer in Virat Kohli. He has been doing the 'dirty work' alongside the other top order batters to help the middle order reap rewards.

The scary part is South Africa are not even dependent on the opener. Van der Dussen, Klaasen, Aiden Markram, David Miller and even Marco Jansen. The only player who has not performed compared to the others is their captain Temba Bavuma as his highest score of the tournament is 35 against Australia. Captain's loss of form could be one of those missing pieces of the puzzle for South Africa as they move closer to the semi-final .If the batting is oozing confidence and doing the job, the bowling has been nothing less than sensational. South Africa are the only team to have bowled out their opposition on every single occasion. With Jensen, Gerald Coetzee and Kagiso Rabada doing the damage with their pace, Maharaj, with his 11 wickets in seven fixtures, has gone under the radar. It is the old cliche that "Batters win you games, bowlers win you tournaments," and if this attack is any indication they have been close to perfection in India.

After seeing Proteas bat first, many doubted if they can chase down the total under lights when necessary. Even when their chase against Pakistan was not ideal and they lost wickets in clumps after starting well in Chennai, they did win a close match to gain two important points. Winning the close moments can certainly make or break teams in the long tournaments like WCs, especially when the team is playing away from home. And that performance at Chepauk has kept South Africa in the hunt for the bigger prize.

As a cricketing nation, South Africa has been on the receiving end of some of the most heartbreaking results in the World Cups, dating back to their first hurrah in the tournament. With Rugby World Cup in their possession already, is this "Time for (South) Africa? in cricket"

Pollution concern for players

NEW DELHI: England cricketers have resorted to a sporadic use of inhalers to deal with high-pollution levels in major Indian cities over the course of their dismal World Cup campaign. British newspaper 'I' reported that the some of the England cricketers were forced to take inhalers, usually used by people suffering from Asthma. Test captain Ben Stokes was seen using the inhalers during training ahead of the game against Sri Lanka in Bangalore. Delhi's air quality breached the 400-mark on Thursday to enter the 'Severe' category. The pollution has caused a major concern in Mumbai as well with India skipper Rohit Sharma touching on the subject ahead of the Sri Lanka game.

League Cup: United, Arsenal out

AGENCIES @ Manchester

MANCHESTER United's defence of the League Cup came to a limp end in a 3-0 home defeat by Newcastle on Wednesday as Arsenal were well-beaten 3-1 at West Ham. Liverpool overcame Bournemouth 2-1 to progress to the quarterfinals, while Chelsea saw off Championship side Blackburn 2-0.

In a repeat of last year's final, which Erik ten Hag's men won 2-0, both managers named much-changed sides at Old Trafford. But it was Newcastle's strength in depth that showed as United slumped to an eighth defeat in 15 games in all competitions this season — their worst start to any campaign since 1962/63.

Action from the match between Man United and Newcastle | AFP

"This is not good enough. We have to take responsibility, I have to take responsibility," said Ten Hag. "I feel sorry for the fans, it is below our standards and we have to put it right." Tino Livramento and Lewis Hall have had to wait for their chance to shine since signing for the Magpies but the young full-backs played a huge role as Eddie Howe's side got revenge for defeat at Wembley in February.

Livramento's surging run set up Miguel Almiron to open the scoring on 28 minutes.

Chelsea loanee Hall then volleyed home a brilliant effort from the edge of the box just eight minutes later. Joe Willock's solo run and stunning finish then drew the sting from any chance of a United fightback on the hour mark.

Results (Rd 4): West Ham 3-1 Arsenal; Bournemouth 1-2 Liverpool; Chelsea 2-0 Blackburn; Everton 3-0 Burnley; Ipswich 1-3 Fulham; Man United 0-3 Newcastle; Exeter 2-3 Middlesbrough; Mansfield Town 0-1 Port Vale.

SMAT: Punjab, Baroda Delhi & Assam in semis

AGENCIES @ Mohali/Mullanpur

RINKU Singh's unbeaten 77 went in vain as Punjab beat Uttar Pradesh by five wickets to enter the semifinals of the Mushtaq Ali T20 tournament here. Baroda, Delhi and Assam are the other three teams to enter the top four, beating Mumbai, Vidarbha and Kerala, respectively.

Batting first, Rinku smashed 77 off just 33 balls to take Uttar Pradesh to 169 for 3 in 20 overs. In reply, Abhishek Sharma (12), Prabhsimran Singh (0) and skipper Mandeep Singh (1) were dismissed cheaply leaving Punjab reeling at 14 for 3 inside first four overs. But Anmolpreet Singh (43 off 29 balls) and Nehal Wadhera (52 off 39 balls) added 72 runs in 9.2 overs before Sanvir Singh (35 off 13 balls) and Ramandeep Singh (22 off 13 balls) blasted 59 in just 4.2 overs to guide Punjab home with five balls to spare.

WHAT IS APPLE THREAT NOTIFICATION

& WHY IS IT CREATING A FURORE

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

A WARNING message from American tech giant Apple has created a furore in India. This message, received by Opposition leaders, journalists and other public figures, warned the recipients of state-sponsored attacks on their iPhones.

Following this, Opposition political parties alleged that the government was conducting surveillance on them. However, the government promptly issued a clarification, with IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw denying any government involvement and asked Apple to participate in the investigation to determine the reason behind this message.

What was the message?

The messages said that Apple believed the receiver was being targeted by state-sponsored attackers attempting to remotely compromise the iPhones associated with their Apple IDs. In simpler terms, it suggested that their iPhones were under attack by individuals associated with government authorities.

In the notification, Apple also advised users to activate the "Lockdown Mode" feature on their iPhones to protect themselves in future from such attacks.

The company also asked users to take extra steps to safeguard themselves against such attacks. These measures include updating to the latest software versions, setting a passcode, enabling two -factor authentication and using a strong password for their Apple ID. Apple also cautioned against clicking on links or attachments from unknown sources and recommended that users only download apps from official App Store.

When does Apple send these warning messages?

The company introduced the threat notification system in November 2021 and since then, it has such issued alerts to users in 150 countries around the world. Its sole purpose is to warn its users about potential attackers targeting their iPhones. Consequently, whenever such attacks occur anywhere in the world, the company detects them and sends a threat warning notifications via email and messages linked to the users' Apple IDs.

In India, this is not the first instance of such notifications were sent. In August 2023, A Murali, a retired IAS officer from Telangana, reported receiving similar alerts on his iPhone.

What does Apple say?

As the issue escalated, Apple released a statement, in which it clarified that it does not attribute the threat notifications to any specific state-sponsored attacker. The company also declined to divulge information about the triggers for issuing these notifications, citing concerns that such details could aid state-sponsored attackers in adapting their tactics to avoid detection in the future.

XPLAINER

The statement further emphasised that state-sponsored attackers are well-funded and highly sophisticated, and their attack methods evolve over time.

Detecting such attacks relies on threat intelligence signals, which can be imperfect and incomplete. As a result, it's possible that some Apple threat notifications maybe false alarms, or that certain attacks go undetected.

What is the government's stand?

The Union electronics and IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw says he has asked the American tech-giant Apple to participate in the investigation by providing real and accurate information regarding the alleged state-sponsored attacks.

He further emphasised that the government takes its role in safeguarding the privacy and security of all citizens very seriously and is committed to thoroughly investigate these notifications to uncover the truth.

In simple words, he placed the onus on Apple. Subsequently, Cert-IN, the cybersecurity investigation unit under the Ministry of Electronics and IT, will head the investigation.

The 'twin' effect: Into the world of virtual twin

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

The concept of virtual twin technology is gaining significance across sectors as this new tech is changing the way one interacts with the physical world. Virtual twins can imitate their physical counterparts—things, personalities or situations—and can perform authorised actions independently.

What the virtual twin technology does is, it takes information from the real world and create a simulation with which one can run experiments on future prospects of anything. If something is likely to become dangerous later on, this technology will flag it early enough so that rectifications can be done accordingly. Such a feature will be a boon in the medical field, where doctors can literally save lives by taking preventive action on time. "At its core, virtual twin technology creates a digital replica or 'twin' of a physical object, system, or environment. This twin is a dynamic and interactive digital model that mirrors the real-world counterpart in real-time. With the integration of Internet of Things (IoT) sensors, data is continuously collected from the physical entity and fed into its virtual counterpart, creating a symbiotic relationship," explains Sanjoy Paul, program director, technology at Hero Vired.

This concept is being used across various sectors including manufacturing, healthcare, energy and urban planning. The healthcare sector is now benefiting from this technology, as it can simulate effects of dosage or responses of a device before any specific treatment.

Surgeons can use digital replicas for surgical planning, enabling personalised treatment simulations and drug discovery. The technology will be a game changer for the manufacturing sector, as companies can create virtual twins of their production lines and equipment. By doingso, they gain the ability to predict maintenance needs accurately, reducing downtime by up to 30%. "Real-time monitoring of manufacturing processes through virtual twins enhances product quality and results in a 20% reduction in defects. This technology also contributes to sustainability efforts by optimising machine usage and reducing energy consumption by 15%," says Paul.

Virtual twin technology is used in the aerospace industry to monitor planes, make weather forecasts and discover faults, if any. Though both digital and virtual twins are used commonly, the latter creates highly accurate products or processes. According to Grand View Research, the global digital twin market size is projected to grow at a compounded annual rate of 37.5% from 2023 to 2030. The size was estimated at $11.13 billion in 2022.

Digital twins and virtual twins are similar in the sense both are 3D representations, but there are differences.

Worldcoin gathers pace to setup Aadhaar-like global ID

WORLDCOIN, a crypto network project started by Open AI Chief Executive Sam Altman is reportedly working to establish a global digital identity and financial system similar to that of India's Aadhaar System. This network would act like physical identity cards issued by governments and establishments in order to help navigate the online space. Though it has many advantages, the primary concerns are the threat to privacy and misuse of data. More than 2.4 million people have shared their bio-metric to get the digital ID and free crypto currency from the company, according to Reuters. The company's Chief of product Tiago Sada stated that they plan to emulate India's Aadhaar system of digital ID. A good analogy for the impact of Worldcoin is the Aadhaar project in India, she said. Apart from the UK, Europe, Japan, Worldcoin has also started scanning irises and collecting biometrics in India as part of its digital ID projects.

Google launches its car crash alert feature in India

GOOGLE has rolled out its car crash alert feature in India for its Pixel smartphones 4a and the higher end models. This feature would alert emergency services in event of a crash. To turn this on, users have to select Car Crash Detection in the Personal Safety app or when asked to turn on Car Crash Detection, tap 'Yes, I'm in'. In order to complete the process, users have to follow the on-screen instructions to allow location permissions, access physical activity and record etc. Users will have to save emergency information in the Personal Safety app. It uses your phone's location, motion sensors, and nearby sounds to detect a car crash and could sometimes misread heavy impact on the vehicle. However, it may not detect all crashes and sometimes won't work if the network connection is poor.

XPRESS FOCUS SMD INITIATIVE

Navigating the GPU Crisis in the era of AI SMARTER ALGORITHMS TO THE RESCUE

The surge in AI development and the consequent demand for more robust and capable AI models have significantly strained the global supply of GPUs (Graphics Processing Units), the engine fueling the training of these models. Nvidia, a key player in the GPU market, has been facing chip shortages, causing AI startups to scramble for computing power. This shortage has led to trimmed profits, delayed project launches, and companies resorting to extreme measures to secure the necessary resources. The boom in AI could potentially trigger a new GPU shortage, though Nvidia has promised stronger supply in the latter half of 2023.

This GPU deficit doesn't only impact the tech giants but also trickles down to smaller entities, particularly those involved in cutting-edge AI research and development. For instance, companies training large models, like those at OpenAI, have to make a trade-off between using GPUs for serving or training models. The GPU scarcity limits their capacity to experiment with bigger or better models, a scenario reflected in the low rate limits for models like GPT-4.

The financial ramifications of this shortage are significant too. With the default method for accelerating Deep Learning projects being the expansion of GPU clusters, many companies are spending over 80% of their total capital raised on compute resources, which is becoming increasingly cost-prohibitive. The burgeoning market value of AI servers, expected to skyrocket to $150 billion by 2027, underscores the relentless demand for GPUs designed to accelerate algorithmic training.

Amidst this backdrop, the tech world is abuzz with endeavors to alleviate the GPU bottleneck by developing smarter algorithms that maximize the utility of available resources. But adversity often breeds innovation. This is where organizations like Microsoft, Google, OpenAI, and Amazon come into the picture, each hustling to find innovative solutions.

For instance, Microsoft has unveiled DeepSpeed, an open-source library that significantly reduces the resources required for training large models. This initiative is a testament to the industry's concerted efforts to navigate the GPU-scarce terrain smartly.

Similarly, Amazon's work on the GreedyLR scheduler, as part of its broader research on smart schedulers for deep learning, embodies an endeavor to make AI training more compute-efficient. This is particularly pertinent in the context of Large Language Models (LLMs), which are central to the unfolding narrative of Generative Artificial Intelligence (GenAI). The work on GreedyLR recently won the best presentation award at this year's Pattern Recognition and Machine Learning conference (PRML) by IEEE.

As Shreyas Subramanian, a lead researcher for the GreedyLR work puts it, "Every application of deep learning that you see around you is a result of training a model with data. But what gets overlooked is the algorithms used for the actual training. Novel optimizers and schedulers are equally important in a world where we are resource constrained. What this means is that the same models can be trained to the same level of performance with less compute. This has far reaching impacts on where our investments in AI/ML need to be, and on environmental sustainability as we get ready to train larger and more capable AI models." Amazon Science recently published an article highlighting the journey of Dr. Subramanian so far in this area (https://www.amazon.science/blog/learning-to-learn-learning-rate-schedules).

In a landscape where the thirst for AI innovation is unyielding but the critical resources like GPUs are in short supply, the pursuit of smarter algorithms like GreedyLR is not just a quest for efficiency, but a necessary stride towards a more resourceful and sustainable AI ecosystem.

The narrative of Amazon's AI research also touches on the essence of fundamental research. In recent times, applied research has garnered attention due to its immediate real-world applications. However, fundamental research, though less visible, often lays the groundwork for significant advancements in AI. Amazon's venture into optimizing training algorithms reflects the valuable role of fundamental research in advancing AI. Work published by Amazon researchers like Dr. Subramanian can be found at https://www.amazon.science/

These varied research activities at Amazon are a testament to their ongoing commitment to exploring the AI frontier. As Subramanian reiterated, "the goal is to keep exploring novel algorithms to push efficiency further, because that will be useful whether or not a particular organization or entity is resource-constrained or has unlimited resources". Amazon's approach in driving AI/ML efficiency showcases a balanced path where technological growth and resource optimization coexist, setting a promising trajectory for AI's future.

As AI continues to intertwine with our daily lives, the balanced relationship between fundamental and applied research remains key for ongoing growth and innovation in this domain. Amazon's various projects, including the GreedyLR scheduler, are steps in this narrative, hinting at an exciting outlook for the tech sector and beyond. And as the landscape of AI expands, it's fundamental research like this that will continue to fuel the AI innovations of tomorrow.
